CAMPBELL 4 UP ON S. LEONARD

Ken Black Shoots Dazzling Golf To Have Boeckh, Toronto, 10 Down; Reith, Dolp and Finger All Have Margins

Vancouver, July 11.—Alan Taylor and Jimmy Todd, Victoria's two representatives in the Canadian amateur golf championship, both gained margins on their opponents at the end of eighteen holes this morning, in the opening round of match play over thirty-six holes. Taylor went to lunch two up over C. C. "Happy" Fraser, Montreal, while Todd finished the morning play one up on Jack Cameron, Toronto, runner-up in last year's championship.

Taylor played par golf to lead Fraser 1 up at the end of the first nine holes. Taylor bagged a birdie two on the 135-yard third and sank a thirty-footer on the ninth to halve the hole after Fraser had holed a shot from the bunker beside the green. On the incoming nine Taylor managed to win another hole from his Montreal opponent to make him 2 up at the halfway mark.

Todd was 2 up on Cameron at the end of the first nine holes, but the Toronto player, who was extremely erratic from the tee, managed to win one of the holes back and finished the eighteen holes 1 down to the southpaw from the Capital City.

The thirty-two survivors of yesterday's rain-drenched qualifying round again found heavy skies and a slight drizzle awaiting them when they reached the first tee this morning. Towards mid-day, however, the rain ceased and the skies showed promise of clearing.

Bobby Reith, winner of the qualifying medal in a field of 107 yesterday, completed the initial round with a lead of seven holes over the runner-up, Stewart Vickers, Calgary. Reith was one over par to the turn and navigated the incoming nine in a par 35. He pitched dead to the pin on the (Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

PADDLED CANOE LONG DISTANCE

Frank Holland Arrives in Dug-out After Hard Trip From Port Renfrew

Logger Had No Means of Getting Out of Bush, So He Paddled Here

Paddling his own canoe, after bucking a strong southeast blow during the fifty-six mile trip from Port Renfrew, on the west coast of the island, Frank Holland, West Coast logger, skinned into the Inner Harbor at 11 o'clock this morning and made his sixteen-foot cedar dugout fast at the Causeway steps.

The dugout carried a small sail, but he was unable to use it. Holland paddled the whole of the distance and spent the night in the shelter of Beecher Bay, near Race Rocks.

He looked bronzed and was in the best of shape, having been logging in the woods for some months.

OUT OF WORK
"There was no work and I couldn't get out any other way, so I decided to paddle out," said Mr. Holland, in talking over his adventurous trip with reporters. "I left Port Renfrew at 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning, reached Beecher Bay by sundown and came on at daybreak, reaching here at 11 o'clock. I had to paddle against a stiff southeast wind all the way or I would have been here earlier. I am going out now to look for work. If I can get a buyer, I shall sell my canoe."

BUILT CRAFT
The craft was carved by Mr. Holland and a friend of his out of a cedar log. It is sixteen feet long and has a beam of two feet eight inches. No water was shipped by the shallow draft on the trip here, the owner stated.

Mr. Holland is a native of Vernon, in the Okanagan country.

WINE IS TOPIC OF DELEGATES

Committee of World Conference Hears Argument for Greater Consumption

London, July 11.—"It is not fair to call wine an intoxicant," stoutly protested Dr. Vasconcelos, Portuguese delegate, in a sub-committee of the World Conference here today. "Wine is a food," he pressed while delegates of other wine countries murmured applause, "and it possesses medicinal qualities."
"He was arguing for an increase in the consumption of wine," he produced figures which showed Frenchmen, by far the world's greatest wine drinkers, consumed 145 litres (about 150 quarts) per capita in 1932 while Canadians, away down the list, drank fifteen litres per capita.

Vancouver R.C.A.F. Captures Gelletty Trophy as Provincial Competition Opens

Vancouver and Victoria Shots Score Possibles in Westminster Corporation Shoot

With ninety-one marksmen taking part, the fifty-fifth annual prize meeting of the British Columbia Rifle Association opened this morning at Heals range under fair conditions. The entry list, although not as large as last year's, includes many of the province's finest shots, who have performed at Ottawa and Bisley with the crack marksmen of the British Empire.

There are, however, two veterans of provincial rifle shooting who will not be seen in action during the meet. These are Master-Gunner H. "Lottie" Collings, for many years a member of the D.R.A. and Bisley teams, and Brig-General J. Duff Stuart, V.D., of Vancouver, who has retired after forty years' participation in this event. The newcomers, however, will compete for a trophy presented by General Stuart for the best score in the all-comers at the 300 and 600 yard marks.

In the first half of the Westminster Corporation match, shot this morning at the 300-yard range, Corporal H. L. Taylor of the R.C.A.F. Vancouver, and Sergeant-Major W. H. Ruffell, Garrison, came through with brilliant possibilities. All competitors found difficulty in locating the bull with only fair, light and occasional showers.

The recently formed non-permanent Air Force team of Vancouver was victorious in the Gelletty Match for four-man teams, shot at the 500-yard mark. The Mainland aggregation turned in a 191 out of a possible 200.

Rain and mild temperatures at night are responsible for the rise, officials state.

PROPELLER'S BLOW FATAL

Ronald King, 18, of Vancouver Succumbs After Accident at Plane Wharf

Struck By Whirling Prop While Casting Off; Inquest To-morrow

Badly mutilated when his head was struck by a propeller on the Sikorsky amphibian of the Canadian Airways Limited, at the Equilmalt float yesterday afternoon, Ronald King, aged eighteen, of Vancouver, succumbed to his injuries shortly afterward in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Pending the inquest to-morrow morning, police ascribed the tragic mishap to the youth's keen desire to assist in casting off the mooring ropes of the plane, which was bound for Vancouver. Three days ago he was appointed mechanic on the machine.

He was scrambling to the forward part of the machine to help Pilot William Wells cast off when he walked between the plane's two whirling propellers. The space between the extended propellers is only eighteen inches and the starboard one struck his head. The space is not generally used as a passageway and has a danger line marked across it.

WITNESSED TRAGEDY
This was the brief detail of the accident told to Chief of Police Pecknold of Equilmalt by Roy Simmons and Neil Fraser, who were standing on the bank to watch the plane depart and witnessed the tragedy. Pilot Wells was in the forward part of the machine and heard nothing but the thud as the youth fell. When he climbed out, King was lying over the top of the propeller, his head having been thrown back by the force of the blow.

The injured youth was rushed to hospital in the C. and C. ambulance, and attended by Dr. J. S. McCallum, but it was apparent from the start there was no hope for his recovery. Although the propeller was traveling at an amazing speed of 800 revolutions a minute, the force of the blow caused a terrible injury.

After a test flight, Pilot Wells took the plane on the regular trip to Vancouver and brought back A. King, the son of the deceased. A stepbrother and out-brother, Leslie, in Vancouver, also survived. Ronald was a student at the University of British Columbia.

The remains are at Sands Mortuary, where the inquest will be conducted by Coroner E. C. Hart. They will be shipped to Vancouver to-morrow to the Munn and Thomson Parlors, where the funeral will be held.

Opponents of F. C. Elliott Say He Is Being Imported. Elliott's Supporters Reply He Owns Property in Sooke. Municipal Party Not in Best Interests, Says Editorial. A Women's Party Is Latest Report.

Candidates nominated to date: Liberals 34, Tolmie Unionist 10, United Front 5, Total 49.

There will be a hot time at Colwood Hall to-night when the Bowser factions gather to nominate their candidate in Equilmalt. Two names will go before the gathering with F. C. Elliott, former president of the Victoria Conservative Association, having the backing of the rural folks and James Elrick, former Equilmalt, carrying the standard for the Equilmalt Bowser followers.

Both sections are working hard to carry the nomination. A lot of rumors have been floating about the constituency for some days. Yesterday afternoon a member of Mr. Elliott's committee telephoned "Political Paragraphs" to say the report that Mr. Elliott had been imported into Equilmalt and did not own property there was incorrect.

"Mr. Elliott has owned property in Sooke since 1914," said the Elliott supporter.

J. E. McVittie, chief organizer of the Bowser party, is here from the mainland to attend the convention. J. Bowser, K.C., leader of the movement, will not take part in the selection of a candidate, insisting that this is the duty of the delegates unhampered by interference from him.

Has Lived With His Wife Aboard Yacht Joyita for Two Years, Closing Up Partial Home

Roland West, actor, playwright, play producer and motion picture star, with his wife, the former Jewel Carmen, screen actress, are visitors to the city after a cruise to Alaska in the Diesel cruiser Joyita.

The yacht, which is the permanent floating home of the Wests, reached port yesterday afternoon, and is anchored off the Causeway in the Inner Harbor.

Owners of a $250,000 home of Spanish design at Castlemare, near Los Angeles, perched upon the cliffs overlooking the broad expanse of the Pacific, Mr. and Mrs. West, after occupying the palatial mansion for four years, went aboard and for the last two years have made the Joyita their floating home.

"I would much sooner be afloat than ashore, any time," said Mr. West when interviewed aboard his yacht this morning. "And my wife is imbued with the same idea. The tang of the salty sea air is preferable to the smell of grease paint. If you stay afloat long enough you begin to wonder why so many people or content to stay ashore."

MRS. WEST NAVIGATOR
Furthermore, the Joyita does not have to rely on Capt. Calvin "Red" Clark to pilot her wherever her owner is disposed to wander. Mrs. West is an experienced navigator, and can show points in steering and in laying courses to her husband, who is no mean sailor, at that.

The Joyita is a seventy-five-foot twin-engine cruiser, with a cruising radius of 4,000 miles and a tank capacity of 4,000 gallons of fuel oil. With the boat afloat most of the time she cruises from 25,000 to 30,000 nautical miles yearly, and she never goes to sea unless her owner and his wife are aboard.

The only exception, Mr. West stated, was the voyage up the Coast from San Francisco to Seattle. They sailed from San Diego, Cal., for San Francisco, and from the Golden Gate they motored to Seattle, because Mrs. West expressed a desire to do so.

PLANE READY FOR MATTER

Pilot at Nome Awaits Permission to Enter Siberia for Rescue

Nome, Alaska, July 11.—William Alexander, leader of the Jimmie Mattern relief expedition, waited impatiently here to-day for permission to enter Siberia with a seaplane to rescue the marooned round-the-world flier.

His backers in New York, Alexander said he understood, were negotiating through the State Department at Washington for authority from the Soviet Government.

Alexander and two of his associates of the expedition, Fred Petterman and Thomas Abbey, arrived here yesterday evening from Juneau.

By Stanley P. Richardson, Associated Press Staff Correspondent
Moscow, July 11.—A dramatic story of how Airman Jimmie Mattern was lost for sixteen days in the wilds of northern Siberia is told in a special dispatch to the newspaper Izvestia from its correspondent at Khabarovsk.

Mattern took off June 14 from Khabarovsk in an attempt to fly to Nome, Alaska, on another stage of his solo round-the-world flight.

Fourteen hours after he had left Khabarovsk, the Izvestia dispatch said, Mattern noticed his motor was beginning to falter and he decided it would be better to land.

Finding no suitable place in the wild, desolate country, he pressed on, apparently hoping the trouble would right itself, only to meet with a virtual complete failure of the engine. This necessitated his coming down in an extremely unfavorable hilly spot about three miles from the left bank of the Anadyr River, on which the village of Anadyr is situated.

PLANE BROKEN UP
In landing his plane was practically destroyed. The propeller was bent, the right wing smashed and the fuselage and the motor damaged.

Mattern suffered cuts and bruises, although not of a serious nature. Hoping to find food and shelter, he set out to walk to the river with only a small supply of chocolate and biscuits. He required eight days to reach the river, his scanty food supply having given out after three days of wandering. What he did for food the remainder of the time was not brought out by the correspondent, but it was felt here he probably put a rift in his stomach by avoiding starvation by eating small game.

BOATS PASSED BY
Reaching the river, he saw two small boats going downstream, but the occupants of neither observed his frantic signals from the shore and passed him by the dispatch said.

On the ninth day he moved a short distance downstream and, to protect himself from cold and wind, he improvised a small hut of scrub growth in which he remained six more days, the Khabarovsk correspondent reported.

On the night of June 29, two more boats passed down the river, manned by two men and a dog. When they saw his signal and took him to their camp about eleven miles from Anadyr, the dispatch said, and there they gave him food and shelter. Shortly afterward he was taken to the coast where a steamer brought a Soviet frontier guard to his assistance.

The guard took Mattern immediately to Anadyr village. Mattern requested the frontier guard to go to his plane and remove the engine and all the instruments, he having decided to abandon the ship because it was impossible to repair it. He was able to take off again.

Premier Bennett and His Party at World Economic Conference Expect To Return Then

By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, July 11.—The Canadian delegation to the World Economic Conference, headed by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, expects to return home at the end of July. Then, it is expected, the conference will have concluded the first stage of its work. The plan is to resume sessions in the autumn when the United States situation is clarified and there is greater likelihood of concrete results in the monetary field.

In a brief meeting this afternoon the main conference steering committee confirmed the recommendations of the special drafting committee, on which Prime Minister Bennett served, the effect being the conference will proceed until about the last week of July with matters on which it can secure unanimous agreement.

Other questions, notably monetary matters, on which the gold-standard and non-gold-standard nations are split so long as there is no currency stabilization, will be left to a future and more favorable time.

OPINION OF LEADERS
Prime Minister Bennett said the decision on which the gold-standard and non-gold-standard nations are split so long as there is no currency stabilization, will be left to a future and more favorable time.

The Canadians are actively engaged in a series of negotiations side by side with the work of the World Economic Conference. In empire gatherings with the United Kingdom and other delegations further development of empire trade is coming under review. The problem of currency stabilization has received preliminary examination.

Wheat negotiations, in which Canada is playing a leading part, with the Danubian nations are reported to be proceeding satisfactorily.

SILVER AND TIMBER
It is expected an agreement will be concluded soon between the silver holding and the silver producing countries, including Canada, on orderly marketing of the white metal.

Canada also is working actively for international agreement on production and marketing of timber.

London, July 11.—Soviet Russia is getting anxious about what is going to happen to its proposals at the World Economic Conference.

The Soviet delegation to-day submitted a memorandum that regardless of any decision which may be taken in regard to the scope of its work, the conference should consider the following questions:

(1) A pact of economic non-aggression, (2) A pact of economic co-operation, (3) A pact of economic solidarity, (4) A pact of economic unity.

The question of extending the import possibilities of various countries, under which such extension is possible.

make valuable members of the Legislature. But they should seek election to the House of Commons, where they can work for the province and the whole province, not that they are going to fight British Columbia in the interests of some section.

"Municipal experience should prove valuable in the Provincial Legislature for the ground which they are going to consider, is really only a municipality in large and because the relations of the province with its municipalities is of great importance. But it must be seen that at least eighteen members of the present Legislature have served on municipal councils or boards. The list of those with municipal experience includes four members of the government and it was recently constituted, the leader of the opposition and six out of the eight members representing the opposition. And yet this municipally-minded Legislature has not been able to do justice to the municipalities."

And still another party. This time it is reported that the women are about to do something.

According to information received by "Political Paragraphs" this morning, a meeting will take place to-night in St. Mark's Parish Church Hall on Tennyson Avenue, of the women of Saanich.

"I understand the proposition is either the formation of a new party, a woman's party or a women's member for the existing party," says the man who announced the meeting. "It promises to be rather interesting," he added. He would not state why he thought it would be interesting.

function as a sort of super-vigilante organization in direct control of the smallest party units and through them controlling the whole working and administrative forces of the transport system.

The central committee has acknowledged weakness of the railroad transport in menacing the whole economy and this weakness recently showed alarming symptoms of becoming more acute.

Bennett Guest At London Luncheon

London, July 11.—Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett was entertained at luncheon to-day at Hudson's Bay House here by the governor and committee of the Hudson's Bay Company. Following the luncheon the Prime Minister inspected the Company's London premises and was particularly interested in the celebrated archives of western Canada and records of Arctic explorations.

ALAN TAYLOR AND JIMMY TODD LEAD IN CANADIAN GOLF

270-yard twelfth for a birdie three and bagged his second birdie on the sixteenth when Vickers pushed the Manitoba's ball into the cup after Bobby had putted to the lip of the cup.

Fred Hoblitzel, bespectacled veteran of Toronto golf, rallied brilliantly in the incoming nine of his first round match with George Thomas, Vancouver, to cut the British Columbian's lead to one hole at the end of the morning's play. Thomas was 4 up at the turn.

Hoblitzel dropped 25-foot putts on the twelfth and sixteenth greens for birdies and scored the last nine in 38, one over par, after taking a 44 to the turn.

DOLP IN FRONT
Frank Dolp, Portland, former holder of the Pacific Northwest and western amateur crowns, cracked par in the morning four with a brilliant 71 to lead Jimmy Bell, Vancouver, 3 up. The American star, one of the favorites for the championship being defended by George Taylor, Montreal, bagged a birdie three on the 355-yard ninth and held this margin under par for the remainder of the round. Bell played a hectic battle that produced a fine brand of golf.

Lewis won the seventeenth and eighteenth with par golf to even the match as Hopkins found trouble in the bunkers bordering both greens. The coast player gained his temporary advantage when he stymied Lewis on the eleventh and sank an approach from the edge of the thirteenth green.

FINGER FLASHES FORM
Jack Finger, San Francisco, a pre-tournament favorite, flashed a perfect golf to clip two strokes from par with a brilliant 70 and take a lead of seven holes over Edwin Innes, Montreal. The Californian was one under standard in the morning four, when he held a two-hole margin and he uncovered the wizardry of a master to complete the troublesome second nine in 34. His round was the best returned in the tournament.

H. Nichol, Penticton, and Dr. Cliff Baker, Portland, gave no quarter in a terrific eighteen-hole struggle that finished all square on the last green when Nichol's ball landed in the hole. Baker holed his putt for a par four.

Bud Donovan, Winnipeg, held a lead of three holes over Dick Moore, Vancouver, at the half-way mark. Donovan was up at the turn but consistent golf down the home stretch increased this margin until the eighteenth, which Moore took with a par four.

Kenrick Black, twenty-four-year-old Vancouver star, who led the British Columbia inter-provincial team to a Willingdon Cup victory Saturday, returned a successful round of 72 to take an almost unassailable lead of ten holes over George Boeckh, Toronto. The youthful coast star dropped a long putt for a birdie two on the third; was up at the short tenth and par fifth but played in standard figures on the other sixteen holes. It was an amazing display of sound golf.

Don George, Vancouver, veteran, held a five-hole lead over Harvey Denison, Edmonton. He sank a short approach on the twelfth for a birdie-three and a forty-footer on the sixteenth for another.

BRILLIANT NINE HOLES
Harry Oliver, Seattle, who led a field of six Americans into the championship flight, uncorked the finest nine of the day with a par-breaking 34, three strokes under the standard. He was down four on the 664-yard first, bagged a birdie deuce on the third and was a stroke under par on the long fourth. He finished in even fours but cracked after the turn and a four on the short tenth and a disastrous eight on the eleventh, where he put his first ball out of bounds and found himself in an unplayable lie after the second tee shot. He recovered, however, and finished the round 6 up on Mac O'Neill, Vancouver youngster.

Whit Matthews, Edmonton, encountered a deal of trouble in his match with Jack Koryvov, Vancouver, and was 5 down at the lunch hour. Morrison's putter was working smoothly and he sank long ones on the twelfth and eighteenth.

Gordon Taylor, the defending champion, played steady and determined golf to take a lead of five holes over "Dewey" Greatrex, Vancouver. The Montrealer was 2 up at the turn and increased this lead with a consistent exhibition on the second nine, making a concession on par on only one hole, the sixteenth. On this hole, Greatrex put a ball out of bounds and then holed out in three strokes to even, half with Taylor in five. The champion was in the woods from the tee.

Scores at the end of eighteen holes follow:
T. Todd, Victoria, led Cameron, Toronto, 1 up.
Reith, Winnipeg, led Vickers, Calgary, 7 up.
A. Taylor, Victoria, led Fraser, Montreal, 2 up.
Dolp, Portland, led Bell, Vancouver, 2 up.
Coville, Vancouver, led Dr. Willing, Portland, 2 up.
Thomas, Vancouver, led Hoblitzel, Toronto, 1 up.
Campbell, Seattle, led Leonard, Vancouver, 4 up.
Leah, Vancouver, led Nichol, Penticton, 3 up.
Brantford, Ont., and Hopkins, Vancouver, all square.

Nichol, Penticton; B.C., and Dr. Baker, Portland, all square.
Fury, San Francisco, led Innes, Montreal, 7 up.
Donovan, Winnipeg, led Moore, Vancouver, 3 up.
Black, Vancouver, led Boeckh, Toronto, 10 up.
Gowan, Vancouver, led Day, Edmonton, 5 up.
Morrison, Vancouver, led Matthews, Edmonton, 8 up.
Givan, Seattle, led O'Neill, Vancouver, 6 up.
G. Taylor, Montreal, led Greatrex, Vancouver, 5 up.

The Motor House (Victoria) Ltd., 971 Yates Street, Victoria.
Gentlemen:
It might be of interest for you to know that I made a fifty-mile trial trip around the Saanich Peninsula with my 1933 Chevrolet Standard Coupe.

I traveled at approximately thirty miles per hour and found my fuel consumption was 33 1-3 miles to the gallon. The gasoline was accurately measured before and after the trip, which was done under normal driving conditions.

Yours very truly,
W. E. Tapley.

SON TESTIFIES AGAINST FATHER

K. McLean Sentenced to Death in Alberta; William Sentenced Earlier

Canadian Press
Vegreville, Alta., July 11.—Kenneth McLean, convicted by a jury here late yesterday afternoon, of shooting to death Walter J. Parille, farmer, September 30 last, was sentenced by Mr. Justice Treadwell to be hanged at the Fort Saskatchewan jail October 6.

William McLean, son of Kenneth, was sentenced last week to die on the gallows October 6 for the same murder.

Yesterday's session of the trial was one of the most sensational in the history of this town. William, already doomed, took the stand as a prosecution witness, and definitely linked his father with the killing.

The son said he had tried to persuade his father not to shoot Parille. He frankly admitted he was testifying against his father in the hope of benefiting himself.

"I am not guilty of the offence held against me. If Dad comes clean he'll tell you. I tried all I could to stop him," the younger man told the court.

Parille, Mannville, Alta., farmer, was found dead at his home September 30 last. He had been robbed. The McLeans, employed on the Parille farm as harvesters, were arrested in Knoxville, Tenn., and brought here for trial.

ABDUCTIONS AND POLICE HUNTS STIR PEOPLE OF THE U.S.

In four different sections of the country yesterday persons had been reported lifted from the midst of their fellows by kidnap gangs.

At Albany, N.Y., John J. "Butch" O'Connell, twenty-four-year-old athlete, was seized early last Friday morning, but it was not till late yesterday the fact was disclosed to the public. A $250,000 ransom was demanded for his safe return.

Aroused by this new criminal outbreak in his home state, Senator Royal C. Copeland, New York Democrat, asked Attorney-General Cummings for federal help with the case and arranged a conference to-morrow to discuss with him the whole subject of kidnapping in the country.

In Alton, Ill., two men yesterday evening entered the home of August Luer, seventy-eight-year-old banker and semi-invalid, knocked his wife down when she attempted to ward them off, and drove away in a car with him. He had been in failing health and was stated to be susceptible to heart disease.

Announcement from the Illinois state capital said twenty members of the highway police had been organized into a special squad to help break up abduction rings.

MAIL CARRIER ABDUCTED
Earlier J. C. Lyle, a Crawfordville, Georgia, rural mail carrier, found himself at West Point, N.C., after having been kidnapped by three escaped convicts—two white men and a negro—he was delivering mail. He was not harmed.

Federal agents who have been operating at Newport News, Virginia, disclosed that they were searching for John Factor, missing Chicago speculator, who disappeared nine days ago.

An Albany, N.Y., dispatch says it was believed John J. O'Connell Jr., powerful athlete and lieutenant in the United States National Guard, was snatched away from his home as he got out of his automobile at 1.15 a.m. last Friday.

His parents noticed his failure to return home Thursday night, but did not suspect he had been abducted until they heard of the death threat Friday. This was telephoned to Samuel Aronowitz, law partner of Edward O'Connell, who is Albany County Democratic chairman.

"Tell Eddie (Edward O'Connell) that we've got his nephew and that he will hear from us," a muffled voice over the telephone told Aronowitz. "If he tells the police we'll kill him."

The two political chieftains feared that young O'Connell, because of his great strength, for which he is noted among his friends, would endanger his own life by attempting to get away. He weighs 225 pounds, is a courageous fighter and a good runner.

Burning Rash on Hands. Itching Severe. Healed by Cuticura.

"A burning rash started on my right hand and spread so that my left hand was affected. The skin was red and the itching and burning were so severe I could tear my hands. It broke the flesh and came out in small blisters. My hand was so painful and sore to look at that I kept it out of sight."

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I had immediate relief so I bought one cake of Soap and a box of Ointment and my hands were healed before I had used them all." (Signed) Mrs. John Bell, 52 Clarence St., St. John, N.B., Nov. 28, 1932.

RELIEF CAMP SYSTEM SCORED

Regina, July 11.—Opposition voiced by the Regina Trades and Labor Council to the unemployed camp system in vogue throughout Canada.

The heated discussion yesterday evening, culminating with the passing of a resolution "condemning those responsible for starting the work camps under the Department of National Defence," was brought about by a letter from the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council in which it was termed "an insult to unemployed to be placed under military control."

TRUSTEE IS AGAIN CHOSEN

H. J. Smith Returned at Cobble Hill; Estimates Passed

Cobble Hill, July 11.—The annual school meeting for the Cobble Hill district was held Saturday evening with W. Alsdorf as chairman.

J. H. Smith, the retiring trustee, was re-elected by acclamation. F. T. Porter was elected auditor by acclamation.

After the various reports were received a motion to add an extra $267 to the estimates if it was thought necessary by the trustees that a second high school teacher should be engaged, was defeated.

It was moved by C. Makepeace and seconded by E. C. Nightingale that the sum of $1,113 be the estimate for assessment for the year 1933-34, and that the amount of $1,815 as estimated by the trustees for expenditures be passed and that the trustees be given the power to use $700 of the bank balance to reduce the amount to the sum of $1,113 for assessment purposes. This carried.

S. J. HEALD IS AGAIN TRUSTEE

Starts Fifteenth Year at Shawnigan; Cut in Grant Criticized

Shawnigan Lake, July 11.—The annual school meeting was held Saturday evening in the schoolhouse. H. E. Hawking was elected chairman and S. J. Heald acted as secretary.

The trustees presented a comprehensive report of the school work, which showed steady progress of the pupils. There had been a falling off in attendance, owing mainly to the shutdown of the mill. The register showed the highest number of attendance had been sixty, as against seventy-two last year. The average daily attendance was forty-three. The school and grounds are in good condition and the inspector's report of the work of the pupils and teachers was very satisfactory. The financial report showed that $1,963 had been the estimate for the year, and that $1,658 had been spent, and a saving of $314.77 had been effected. The auditor's report showed the accounts had been accurately kept and the school had a balance of $653 in the bank.

The estimates for the year were presented and the sum of $2,236 was authorized spent for the current year. Included in the amount is $1,306 necessary to pay the school's portion of the two teachers' salary. This item is in excess of the grant from the province. The grant towards teachers' salaries. This caused some adverse criticism.

Geo. S. Gibson was re-elected auditor. S. J. Heald was the regular retiring trustee, and was re-nominated together with Eric Gibson for the position of trustee. A ballot was taken and S. J. Heald was elected. Mr. Heald now enters his fifteenth consecutive year in office.

The meeting voted $1,800 as the assessment amount for the year and the balance in the bank will be used to make up the difference.

A special report on a new school site was presented by the board and it was laid on the table to be dealt with at a future meeting. Mrs. C. P. Dyson, trustee, brought in a report at the request of some parents to have a dental clinic. The meeting voted $50 in case it was decided to hold one. A supplementary report was made by the trustees regarding the application for a school at the south end of the lake. The report was that Dr. S. J. Willis had stated such an application had been made and the inspector had been instructed to make a report and confer with the trustees. The meeting was divided on the issue and requested that the whole matter be thoroughly gone into and the ratemakers consulted.

SHAWNIGAN W.I. The Shawnigan Women's Institute held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. M. A. Kinloch, Cliffside. Mrs. F. M. O'Connell, president, opened the meeting.

A report on the recent W.I. conference was read by Mrs. P. T. Elford, and a paper on buying on installment plan, its advantages and disadvantages, was read by Mrs. Kinloch. Arrangements were made for the summer sale on August 12, the conveners being set for the various stalls.

ALL-ENGLISH PICNIC HELD

Large Gathering at Newcastle Island; Eleven Counties Represented

Special to The Times Nanaimo, July 11.—Two thousand members of twenty-one associations representing the English Societies in Vancouver augmented by large delegations of kindred societies from Victoria and Nanaimo, held a picnic on Newcastle Island, Sunday. There were eleven English County Associations as follows: Cumberland and Westmoreland, Lancashire and Yorkshire; five lodges of the Sons of England, St. George, Sussex, Gloucester, Hereford and Worcester, and the County of London. There were also several lodges of the Daughters of England represented. The first boat, the Princess Norah, arrived at noon with 1,100 on board. The Princess Elizabeth following an hour later with an overflow of more than five hundred. The party was accompanied by the Sons of England Band of thirty-seven pieces.

The visitors were welcomed by Mayor John Barbery of Nanaimo and President W. W. R. Mitchell of the Trade Board. W. H. Marshall was chairman of the arrangements. Several speakers addressed the huge gathering. Moving pictures were taken of the picnickers. The visitors were favored with beautiful weather and declared the picnic the best that had ever been held under the auspices of the English Societies.

BRITAIN NOW HAS LARGEST BANKS

New York, July 11.—With the fall of the dollar, the United States has lost the distinction of having the largest bank in the world.

A cable report of Barclays Bank Limited, of London, shows deposits converted into dollars at the present rate of "exchange" totaling $1,821,028,750, and total resources of $1,971,951,182.164 on June 30.

The Chase National Bank of New York, hitherto regarded as the world's largest bank, reported deposits of $1,408,337,153 and resources of $1,727,182,164 on June 30.

Since Barclays has been rated as the third largest of London's "Big Five," it appears that the bank has three banks exceeding the Chase National figures.

Girls usually cease to grow between the ages of fifteen and sixteen; boys go on developing for an additional two years or more.

REPORT NO SUCCESS IN HUNT TO FREE J. FACTOR

John (Jack) the Barber Factor, speculator, disappeared from Chicago early July 1.—It was stated he was abducted by a gang from "The Delis," a roadhouse near Chicago (lower picture), for ransom, and since then Jerome Factor, nineteen, his son (upper left), has been active, according to his own reports, in efforts to discover his whereabouts and bring about his release. Al Epstein (upper right), Factor's attorney, was abducted with him. It was reported, but a short time later was released. The British consul at Chicago asked the police to investigate fully the suggestion the whole affair was a disguised move to prevent the return of "The Barber" to England to face trial on fraud charges.

SPECIAL SCHOOL TAX AT SOOKE LEGION BRANCH HOLDS OUTING

Trustees Vote To Impose $2.50 Charge on Those Not Paying Other Charges

Special to The Times Sooke, July 11.—The annual meeting of the ratepayers of the Sooke Superior School District was held in the Sooke Hall on Saturday evening. Alexander Campbell was elected chairman. Charles Thompson was re-elected as secretary of the school board for a period of three years. C. A. Heigen was appointed auditor for the coming year. The financial statement was read by George H. Jones, acting secretary, and proved satisfactory. The appropriation asked for by the trustees for the coming year, was $1,000. A ten per cent cut was made in the wages of the two female teachers, the principal's salary to remain the same as last term. The salary for the district nurse was $250. A motion was passed placing a tax of $2.50 on every person over the age of twenty-one years residing in the district, who does not pay school taxes in the province. The non-ratepayers of the district who have children attending school will be taxed $2 a year, irrespective of the number of children from each family attending school.

A plan to install a hot water heating system in the school was placed before the meeting by the trustees. A credit balance from last year's appropriation will take care of this work. The subject of electric lights for the building was also brought up and a motion to employ all local labor for the work was passed.

"ROMANOFF" IS OUT OF JAIL AGAIN

A gold mine employing directly and indirectly near 3,000 people was described by G. C. Cranor, mining engineer from Korea who passed through here yesterday on the American Mail liner President Cleveland. Mr. Cranor, who is accompanied by his wife, is stationed at a Japanese quartz mine which is located some 120 miles northwest of Seoul in Korea.

Mr. Cranor, who hails from Denver, Colorado, learned the mining game there, and nearly twenty-five years ago moved to Korea and became associated with a Japanese mining company. About twenty white men are employed at the mine, he said, while the rest of the employees are Chinese, Japanese and native Koreans.

When asked if there was much trouble from bandits in China, he said that the brigands had nearly all been driven into the hills in the last three years. An efficient police and military force has been established by Japanese authorities. Two or three years ago ravages from the outlaws had been fairly common, he said.

An output of approximately 20,000 tons per month was the average. In Japan the government's embargo on gold forced miners to sell at a discount, but by selling to brokers they can get a better price, smuggling of gold out of Japan was very common now that the embargo was in force, he stated.

Mr. Cranor plans to stay for a short while in Denver, and will then proceed to New York and return via London to Korea.

LAW SOCIETY HAS MEETING

B.C. Organization Plans New Constitution, Providing for Annual Conventions

Canadian Press Vancouver, July 11.—Assembled in the Vancouver courthouse yesterday in the first annual general meeting of the Law Society of British Columbia since it was established forty-nine years ago, members went on record in favor of the advisability of adopting a more flexible constitution. With this end in view, the various Bar associations of the province will be consulted.

Plans were discussed for the holding of a convention in Vancouver next year, when distinguished lawyers from outside the province, including the state of Washington, will be invited to attend. It is proposed to mount a combined business and social event.

No action was taken yesterday on a suggestion, contained in a letter of Lindley Crease, K.C., bench of Victoria, that police officers should not shoot at fugitives.

L. G. McPhillips, K.C., ex-officio bench of the Law Society, presided in the absence of A. H. Macdonald, K.C., the treasurer. E. C. Senkler, K.C., secretary, assisted.

CHANGES DESIRED The profession generally were of opinion that the benchers, the Law Society's governing body, should be more in touch with the members. This trend was noticed last March when new blood was introduced by popular vote to the benchers in the persons of Messrs. D. E. McTaggart and Roy Long of Vancouver, George L. Cassidy of New Westminster and C. B. Garland of Nelson.

Sponsors of the annual meeting idea wish to make the benchers more responsible to the members, and also desire to have an organization which can speak authoritatively for the profession. Bar associations have had no recognized legal existence; they passed recommendations, but had no power to carry them out. During the ensuing year, committees, according to present plans, will be selected by the benchers from a list of names proposed by bar associations, and these will draft a programme for the annual convention.

DUNCAN BRIDAL COUPLE TO MAKE HOME IN CALGARY

Duncan, July 11.—A smart wedding took place at St. Peter's Church, Quamichan, on Saturday at 3 p.m. when Muriel, eldest daughter of Mrs. and the late Mr. Ernest Price, of Quamichan Park, became the bride of William Alfred King, son of Mr. W. H. King of Calgary. Archdeacon H. A. Collinson was the officiating clergyman.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William E. Price, wore a Maggy Rouff model gown in French chiffon velvet, cut on princess lines, and veil of embroidered net, arranged with orange blossom in cap fashion. She carried a bouquet of white roses, lilies of the valley and white heather, and wore a gold bangle, the gift of her godmother, Mrs. J. Macdonald. Miss Dodo Price, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, wearing a charming gown of pink silk net over taffeta, with taffeta skirt on the skirt, and a taffeta coat. A large pink hat, and bouquet of pink roses completed her costume. Little Joan Stamer, cousin of the bride, made a pretty little flower girl in a dainty pink net dress. Mr. Richard King, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The church was beautifully decorated by Mrs. E. Springett, Mrs. Stamer and other friends of the bride, with Canterbury roses and greenery. Mr. Hubert Bevan and Mr. A. Cheek acted as ushers. The service was choral, with Mr. Clements at the organ. The choir sang "Lead Us Heavenly Father, Lead Us." and the six-voice choir sang "The Lord's Prayer." Refreshments were served outside with the handsome three-tier wedding cake on the bride's table. The many beautiful presents were on view in the drawing room.

For her going-away outfit, the bride chose a smart "wagger" suit of gold and brown check, with hat to tone, in brown, and a very chic hat, en suite. Refreshments were served outside with the handsome three-tier wedding cake on the bride's table. The many beautiful presents were on view in the drawing room.

Mr. and Mrs. W. King left by motor, and after a honeymoon in Vancouver, will go on to Calgary to the Millarville Ranch, where they will reside.

MANY SMUGGLE GOLD IN JAPAN

A gold mine employing directly and indirectly near 3,000 people was described by G. C. Cranor, mining engineer from Korea who passed through here yesterday on the American Mail liner President Cleveland. Mr. Cranor, who is accompanied by his wife, is stationed at a Japanese quartz mine which is located some 120 miles northwest of Seoul in Korea.

Mr. Cranor, who hails from Denver, Colorado, learned the mining game there, and nearly twenty-five years ago moved to Korea and became associated with a Japanese mining company. About twenty white men are employed at the mine, he said, while the rest of the employees are Chinese, Japanese and native Koreans.

When asked if there was much trouble from bandits in China, he said that the brigands had nearly all been driven into the hills in the last three years. An efficient police and military force has been established by Japanese authorities. Two or three years ago ravages from the outlaws had been fairly common, he said.

An output of approximately 20,000 tons per month was the average. In Japan the government's embargo on gold forced miners to sell at a discount, but by selling to brokers they can get a better price, smuggling of gold out of Japan was very common now that the embargo was in force, he stated.

Mr. Cranor plans to stay for a short while in Denver, and will then proceed to New York and return via London to Korea.

COACH WINNERS OUT-TO-MORROW

Judges Busy at Regina; Nearly One Hundred Models Entered

Regina, July 11.—Craftsmanship of Canadian prairie lads, some of them without benefits of special technical schooling, reached new heights in an exhibit of miniature Napoleonic coach models at Regina this week.

Nearly 100 coaches have been entered in the western Canada section of the Fisher Body Craftsmanship Guild. Judging started around noon Tuesday last and coaches by country boys in blacksmith shops and roadside garages, and others the work of high school students in prairie cities, were placed on exhibition immediately.

Entries are double the number shown in Regina in the western judging finals last year and improvement in craftsmanship appeared general.

Winners will be announced on Wednesday and eight boys from the western provinces will win, in addition to $100 in cash, a free trip to the Fisher Guild conventions in August, at Toronto and the Century of Progress Exhibition in Chicago. These boys will all be eligible for the two university scholarships which are to be given exclusively to Canadian boys when their coaches are judged in competition with the district winners of the Dominion.

Earl L. Bedell, assistant supervisor of Vocational Schools of Education of Detroit Public Schools, is here to supervise judging. He is assisted by W. J. P. Selby, provincial commissioner of Boy Scouts of Saskatchewan, and David Swan, Salford Technical High School instructor in Regina.

WORLD CONDITIONS IMPROVING DESPITE CONFERENCE DEADLOCK

Although the World Economic Conference has not been able to discover any specific formula for hastening better times, reports from various countries indicate that the upward trend of business which set in a month or so ago is continuing. It has been authoritatively stated by government spokesmen at Ottawa that there is less unemployment in Canada than there was at the end of the winter months, while each week sees an increase in railway carloadings and railway travel, and most of the larger centres across the country report weekly bank clearing advances over last year. If the price of wheat rises steadily, or even maintains its present better figure, the feeling of confidence that condition will engender is bound to have a beneficial effect on Canadian business activity generally.

Dun and Bradstreet Incorporated announces from New York "it is no longer an opinion that business is on the up-grade; it is a fact." This concern also expresses the view that the weekly increase in the backlog of unfilled orders is unquestioned proof of the permanency of the most general improvement. It observes that most graphs depicting the course of industrial activity are now at the peak for 1933, while others have crossed last year's position, some having broken even into the 1931 territory. In the latter category, by the way, the steel industry has taken the lead with production nearly on a par with 1930. Unfilled steel orders for June showed an increase of 176,856 tons over May, or the largest demand for any month since December, 1930. One financial writer, indeed, says United States trade reports indicate orders poured in last month from unexpected sources and for amounts unsurpassed for a long time. This has resulted in substantial reduction in the number of idle workers. In many cases, moreover, there have been encouraging announcements of pay increases.

From London comes the announcement that there were 144,771 fewer unemployed on June 26 than a month before, and 309,235 fewer than a year ago at that time. While this is an excellent sign, the number of idle workers in Great Britain still stands at the enormous total of 2,438,108, as at June 26. It is nevertheless noteworthy that this considerable reduction of the workless should take place during the second month of the embargo on Russian imports, which, of course, put a stop to Britain's exports to the Soviet. Now that trade between the two nations has been restored by the removal of the embargo, consequent upon the release of the two British engineers who were in prison, an immediate further demand for labor will no doubt be forthcoming. The engineering trade particularly was doing good business with Russia, orders for the Soviet finding employment for several thousands in Birmingham and the northern Midlands section of the country.

Speaking at Dortmund, Germany, on Sunday, Chancellor Hitler asserted that since his advent to power the number of unemployed in his country had been reduced by 2,000,000 persons. He said that he had not believed it possible such tremendous changes could have been wrought in such a short time. We have no means of checking the German Chancellor's statement. It is five months since he assumed his dictatorship. That is an extraordinarily short time in which to cut the number of idle persons from approximately 6,000,000 to 4,000,000. But if other countries are improving their economic condition—we have proof of this—similar improvement must be taking place in Germany, even though the situation there may be not as rosy as Hitler would have the world believe.

Other European nations, notably France, have smaller lists of unemployed than a few months ago. What will have a definite effect on these conditions, of course, will be a gradual reduction of tariffs. Although definite action on this question may be delayed as far as the deliberations of the World Economic Conference are concerned, various nations are entering into trade agreements on their own accounts. These pacts for the most part are designed to facilitate the movement of commodities. So as trade shall be allowed to flow normally between nation and nation, so will the wheels of industry in every country turn at a quicker pace, thus demanding the employment of more labor, which, in turn, will mean more money in circulation and more business all round.

HITLER'S ANTI-JEWISH CAMPAIGN CONTINUES

Anti-Semitism in Germany shows no sign of abatement. A new law definitely barring all Jews or persons with Jewish family affiliations from holding any kind of office has just been promulgated in the official gazette. Under this law no person of "non-Aryan" descent shall be eligible for appointment as an official of the Reich, the states, municipalities or municipal associations or any other kind of public or legal corporation, institution or endowment.

The same prohibition applies to persons of "Aryan" descent who are married to persons of non-Aryan descent and Aryan officials who marry persons of non-Aryan descent are to be dismissed. Similar provisions are decreed for the Reich railroad, the Reichbank and incorporated religious organizations. The law further provides that only such persons will be appointed as Reich officials who "offer a guarantee that they will at all times unconditionally support the National State."

According to Nazi terminology, the word

"non-Aryan" in this law means all persons who have one-quarter or more Jewish blood—that is, all those who have at least one grandparent of the Jewish faith. The number of such non-Aryan persons in Germany is estimated by Dr. Achim Gercke, expert for racial research in the Reich Ministry of the Interior, at 1,500,000 but other sources put the number at 3,000,000. That means that five per cent of the German population has been deprived of the right to hold office.

The final provision of the law requiring "national reliability," presumably excludes from the Reich's offices many more millions. Undoubtedly it excludes all Socialists and Communists, who in the last elections polled nearly 12,000,000 votes, and it is likely that the law excludes many Democrats and Centrists.

In its widest interpretation, in fact, it can be made to mean that only Nazis can henceforth be appointed as Reich officials, for Nazi leaders have often stressed that only Nazis can be true supporters of the Nazi State.

The scope of the law is further widened by the fact that most of the employees of the railroads, Reichsbank and religious organizations are counted as officials, so that non-Aryans and "nationally unreliable" persons are virtually excluded from employment by those institutions.

As for most of the German utilities, including street railways, water and electric works that are municipally owned, the "national reliability" clause apparently does not apply to their officials, but the law barring all non-Aryan officials applies to them.

HE APPEARED IN A SENSIBLE SOFT COLLAR

The emancipation of man! Is such a thing possible? It is. Take, for example, a dispatch from London the other day which read as follows:

London's clubs were buzzing to-day over the exploit of the sixty-two-year-old Duke of Marlborough, who appeared at a Grand Ducal banquet last evening clad in white linen trousers, a soft collar and shirt. In the course of a speech, the Duke congratulated himself on his costume. He pointed out kindly that he noticed others present properly attired in evening dress—only in this heat wave—of hard and brutal colors.

Victoria has yet to experience in this year, 1933, any sweltering heat; but the Duke of Marlborough has started something which ought to be followed up by the male of the species all over the world.

WILL THIS PERFECT ECONOMIC STATE LAST?

We do not know how many Canadians there are who would prefer Palestine to Canada as a country in which to live. But there are more than ten million Canadians who wish that this Dominion was enjoying the same prosperity as the Zionist state is enjoying at the present time. Here is the pleasant economic picture as painted by The Literary Digest:

With no unemployment, a treasury enjoying an annual surplus, land values doubling and redoubting, capital flowing in, industries expanding, immigration increasing astoundingly, and malaria, stamped out, Palestine thrives as neither the British mandatory administration nor the Zionists themselves ever dared to hope.

The Jordan, now harnessed, yields electrical power carried all the way to Acre in the north and Rehoboth in the south.

The Dead Sea, its waters lowered by pumping, yields potash and bromine for shipment from Jericho to Jerusalem, whence, by way of Haifa and Port Said, they are exported everywhere.

Two years ago, Palestine's orange crop—its main source of income—filled 2,000,000 crates at most. The forecast for the coming year is 6,000,000. Tel Aviv, a Jewish settlement near Jaffa, has 60,000 inhabitants in 1932. Now it claims 60,000 with 100,000,000,000 ahead.

In nine years, Palestine's Jewish population has doubled. Partly because Turkish conscription has ceased, the Arab population has increased by more than a third.

The London Times, however, sounds a note of warning. It fears lest the present "boom" should collapse, as it thinks it may. It points out that the resultant unemployment would revive the declining hostility between Arab and Jew and inflict undesired injury on the licensed and law-abiding immigrants, adding at the same time new burdens and anxieties to the British government's already heavy load. The London daily argues that the sooner these facts are faced the better for all concerned. Meanwhile a new Palestine has replaced the old in every respect, and perhaps the inhabitants of that country are content to "make hay while the sun shines," despite the world's example of a few years ago—and the aftermath.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

IS DRIVING WORSE?
The Stratford Beacon-Herald

A local salesman who drives every day of the week is sure there are drivers who can be attended to only by being taken off the roads and having their cars locked up.

Just what did he mean?

This for example: "I was driving towards Stratford from St. Mary's the other day. A small car passed me when coming down the long hill, this side of the town. There were six young people in it. Then just as it came to the brow of the hill on the other side of the valley it turned out and passed the car ahead. If there had been a car coming in the other direction there would have been a crash and three cars would have been in it. Nothing under the sun would have stopped it."

"When I was going through the 'W' just at the Little Lakes, east of Stratford, a car passed me on the turn there. He could not see if the road was clear ahead of him. He was just hunting for trouble. I have been driving for years and similar things are taking place on the highways every hour of the day. I hear people say drivers are better than they used to be. If any person thinks so, let him spend a week on the road."

GONZALES VERSUS VICTORIA

To the Editor:—The weather report issued by the Meteorological Office, Victoria, B. C., gives the maximum temperature of this city on Sunday, 9, and that of yesterday as 62. In other words, according to that report, it was warmer yesterday than it was on Sunday. It certainly was not in Victoria, whatever it may have been on Gonzales Hill. There is good reason to realize, after comparing thermometer readings in this city with those on Gonzales, that often, as far as temperature is concerned, these two localities might as well be a hundred miles apart.

Victoria's temperatures should be recorded at the Post Office for meteorological purposes. Gonzales is not Victoria. Moreover, Victoria's best interests are positively not served by the circulation of official reports which, however accurate they may be for Gonzales, convey the impression that this city rarely experiences a warm day.

Decimal Money For Britain Urged

London, July 11.—A resolution urging the pound sterling be "decimalized without delay" was passed unanimously by the Federation of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire here yesterday evening. The resolution suggested the pound be valued at 200 pence (at present 240 pence), and that a nickel coin worth two pence (1-100th of the new pound) be substituted for the present three-penny bit.

Nanaimo Cricketers Drop First Fixture

Nanaimo, July 11.—Nanaimo cricketers lost their first game of season to Vancouver Army and Navy eleven Sunday being beaten by one run in an exciting game. Batting first Nanaimo was only able to score fifty-one runs against fine bowling of Hendy and Fleming. Heaton was only the man of local batmen to make showing, scoring twenty-three runs. His score included four boundary hits. Hendy secured seven wickets for seventeen runs. Coming to bat for visitors Booth and Webster put the score at thirty before Booth was caught by Heaton. Booth hit up twenty-three runs in vigorous style. Leighton, local truster, was in deadly form. When Curry, last man, came to bat Army and Navy needed one run to win and Curry hit the necessary run, his partner being caught out on the next ball.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

It is the same, each well-loved scene of old,
The ships at anchor and ships sailing
The Belver light, with gleams of red and gold,
Against the twilight shadows, deepening fast.
No change I find in this remembered place
Where every image in my heart is stored.
No change, save in the shadow of my own face,
And, who can say? this may be wholly kind.
Better, perhaps, that I can keep you so,
Always erect and young and proud and free:
Better, a hundredfold, that you should turn
Only that other fairer, braver me!
Unchanged the sea, the sand, the lights and gold,
And these dear memories God lets us hold!

ASK SUPPORT OF PLEA FOR GRANT

Esquimalt Council Wants
Commission to Endorse
Move for Federal Assistance

Municipality Seeks Relief
From Non-revenue Producing Government Lands

Support of the municipal commission for Esquimalt's plea to have the federal government make an annual grant to the municipality in compensation for the non-revenue producing military and naval lands, will be sought by the Esquimalt Council as a whole when it meets the commission at its sitting in the courthouse here.

At a meeting of the council yesterday evening it was decided that the entire body would go before the provincial body. The municipal clerk was instructed to prepare a brief containing data on the question of the federal owned lands in the municipality.

This matter has been brought forward for several years by Esquimalt officials, who feel that these lands, for which the municipality must pay upkeep costs, should bring some revenue.

In addition to this, the municipal delegation will draw the commissioners' attention to the financial condition of the municipality in regard to declining revenue in the form of taxes owed by the Puget Sound Agricultural Association. They will also seek compensation for the three beer parlors in the district.

Other business of yesterday evening's meeting included the supporting of a resolution to clear noxious weeds from a municipal lot on Constance Avenue. It is also likely that the council will undertake to have several other municipal properties cleared, the work being undertaken as a relief measure. Friendly help accounts for June, totaling $122.50, were ordered paid.

SCHOOL MEETING AT LANGFORD

The annual school meeting took place Saturday evening in the schoolhouse at Langford with a good attendance of ratepayers. E. F. Le Queune was elected chairman. Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen, chairman of the school board, presented the trustees' report, which showed eighty-two pupils were enrolled, four taking the high school entrance examination. The board appreciated the assistance of the Parent-Teacher Association. Several improvements will be necessary during the year. The inspectors' reports were considered satisfactory. The school had not been closed for any infectious illness, the teaching being of high standard, the teachers being excellent in their work—the meeting decided to write to the principal, Miss Lois Peasey, and Miss Hilda E. Guy, teachers, congratulating them on the satisfactory year.

The nursing service was voted to be continued. The meeting decided not to accept pupils outside the school area owing to limited accommodation.

The school hours in future will be from 9 to 3 o'clock throughout the school terms, it was decided.

Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen was re-elected on the school board, also H. A. Hinks as auditor for the year. A vote of thanks was passed to the board of trustees, Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen, E. F. Le Queune and F. A. Moir.

TAX QUOTATION ISCORRECTED

Wrong Impression Conveyed in Eastern Publication,
Mayor Shows

Steps will be taken by the City Council to correct a false impression of Victoria's financial status published through a mistaken figure in a pamphlet entitled "Canadian Taxation," issued by the Citizens' Research Institute in Eastern Canada.

This was decided yesterday afternoon, when Mayor Leeming pointed out that this publication showed Victoria as having had 27.7 per cent of uncollected taxes last year. The actual figure was 17.7 per cent. Calculations in the pamphlet were all based on the incorrect figures, he said, and this conveyed an entirely false impression of the city's position. Whereas the 27.7 per cent figure would make Victoria the worst city of the west in uncollected taxes the proper figure of 17.7 per cent placed it well down the list, he said.

The comptroller and the mayor were authorized by the council to take the matter up with the publishers and have it corrected.

WILL TALK ON GOLD MINING

"What I Know of the Cariboo Area Generally," will be the subject of a public address to be given by C. A. Johnson in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. All interested are invited to attend. The talk being sponsored by H. E. Hunnings and Company and Western Canada Securities Company.

Mr. Johnson has for the last five years been closely associated with development of the Cariboo Gold Quartz Mining Company.

WOULD CHANGE GARBAGE PLAN

Alderman J. D. Hunter Supported in Request for Dumping Further Out

On motion of Alderman J. D. Hunter, the City Council yesterday afternoon instructed the city engineer to interview the Island Tug and Barge Company with a view to having the city garbage dumped not less than three miles from shore.

This action was taken as a result of recent allegations that the garbage returned on the tide and was strewn over beaches along the waterfront.

Alderman Hunter said he had talked with officials of the tug company and understood they were quite willing to tow the garbage three miles out, if it were considered necessary. They had also invited any alderman to go out on their tugs and see that the refuse was dumped that far out.

The alderman also stated that the city, under its contract with the company, could demand that the garbage be dumped thirty miles out if necessary, but fairness was desired and he thought three miles would be sufficient.

City Engineer G. M. Irwin stated that from conversations with the tug company officials, he understood it was only when wind and tide conditions were unfavorable that the garbage might float back to the beaches, and steps would be taken to avoid this.

Alderman Hunter also secured endorsement of a recommendation that steamship companies plying regularly be asked to co-operate by avoiding the dumping of offensive matter in proximity to the beaches.

GUIDE LOST LIFE

Winton, Minn., July 11 (Associated Press)—Jacky Linklater to-day was on a portage across the Great Divide where none return. The north woods noted guide, woodsman and game warden drowned in Jackfish Bay, near here, Sunday. He was sixty-seven. His sturdy wife, a full-blooded Chippewa Indian, swam to shore after a squall had upset their canoe.

FERRY RATES VITAL FACTOR

Importance of Tourist Travel
Stressed at Meeting of Protest

All Citizens of Lower Island
Invited to Join in Move for Reduction

Foundation for a concerted effort by Victoria, Saanich, Esquimalt and Oak Bay to secure lower automobile ferry rates between Victoria and the mainland was laid at a meeting yesterday evening of committees of the City Council and the Chamber of Commerce.

Alderman W. D. Todd was chairman, and alleged in his opening remarks that "the high cost transportation, both for passengers and cars, is a cancer eating away the prosperity of the island."

Importance of the tourist trade to Victoria was stressed by several speakers, who pointed out how this traffic was greatly affected by the ferry rates. Major H. Cuthbert Holmes declared he thought it would be possible to prove by statistics that the travel was in inverse ratio to the rates.

Attention was drawn to the fact that when cheap travel rates were put in force to and from California and between the prairies and the Coast, the passenger traffic was swelled enormously. This was a distinct indication of the effect which rates had upon the volume.

After canvassing the situation from various angles the meeting decided to adjourn for one week, and in the meantime full facts and figures on the travel and rates during the last ten years will be obtained. Efforts will be made to enlist the aid of the outside municipalities and any other organizations interested. The main idea of the move is to convince steamship operators that the lower rates would be more beneficial to everyone concerned, it was stated.

FULL ISSUE FOR COUNTER SALE

City To Sell $227,000 Refunding Loan Direct to Public at City Hall

An issue of $227,000 City of Victoria refunding debentures, bearing 5.5 per cent interest for fifteen years, will be sold "over the counter" at the City Hall, according to a recommendation of the finance committee endorsed by the City Council yesterday afternoon.

The bonds will be printed in denominations of $500, $500 and $1,000 to give the opportunity for all property owners to secure them.

"I have had several inquiries from citizens regarding the possibility of securing the bonds in this way," said Alderman P. R. Brown, finance chairman, who sponsored the move. "Those who buy the bonds will become more interested directly in civic affairs, and since the banks are paying only 2.5 per cent interest on savings accounts they will be an attractive investment."

Alderman John Worthington proposed that each alderman should constitute himself a salesman for the bonds by boosting them in their own circles.

Reflecting the rising condition of the bond market were the prices of bond purchases for sinking funds authorized by the council. A $1,000 block of city 6 per cent bonds due in 1935 was purchased at par. A figure of 90.85 was paid for $2,000 city 5 per cent bonds due in 1946.

An exchange of $10,000 Province of New Brunswick 5 per cent bonds, at 97, and $50,000 C.N.R. 8 per cent bonds at 104 for $40,000 city 5 1/2 per cent bonds at 97 was also completed.

Canadian Radio Commission
Result of Local Suggestions,
Chairman Says

Hector Charlesworth Addresses Meeting of Gyro and Canadian Clubs

Victoria has a just claim to being the city responsible for the origin of national control of radio, Hector Charlesworth, chairman of the Canadian Radio Commission, told a joint meeting of the Gyro and Men's Canadian Clubs in the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon. Col. H. T. Goodland presided, in the absence of William Strath, president.

In Victoria, he stated, Sir John Aird and his commission had first heard the suggestions of the Victoria Broadcasting Club in regard to establishing national control of broadcasting, and the ideas incorporated in the Aird report were largely the results of these suggestions. Mr. Charlesworth referred to Victoria as being "the cradle of the radio commission."

Radio is full of mysteries, the speaker stated, explaining that there was difficulty in determining why broadcasts were clearer at some periods than others. He did not know when the difficulties of reception would be solved, but gave assurances that the commission would do all in its power to assist in this matter.

CONTROL IS NEEDED

The chief problem facing the commission, he continued, was the control of that which came out of the radio to the ear of the listener. Radio was initially used for very trifling and vulgar purposes, and for this reason nationalization was effected, Mr. Charlesworth said.

He reviewed the political developments which first had led up to the organization of the commission through the investigation of the Aird commission. Any changes in frequencies or wave-

C. H. Hancock,
Chicago

"I must have a gasoline that starts instantly and insures smooth performance at all times. That is why I changed to Super Shell."

T. R. Seck,

at Shellburn, B. C. Shell Oil Company of British Columbia, Ltd.

TENS of thousands in Chicago switched to this gasoline the first week! It's the same story here—everywhere—people are saying, "Man, have you tried Super Shell!"

From Super Shell you get the kind of premium performance you once paid 3c extra for. The same extra mileage! The get-a-way; the great reserves of smooth, quiet power!

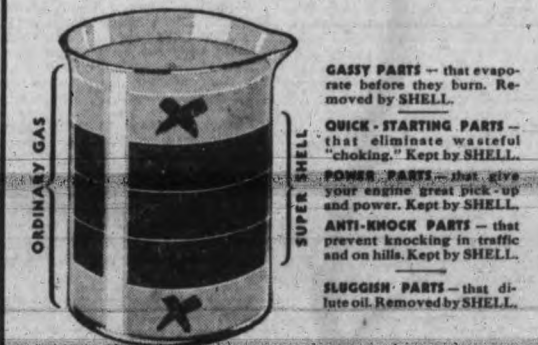

Super refining—that's the reason for it. By Shell's exclusive new processes, the wasteful parts in ordinary gasoline are entirely removed. Super Shell is a concentrated motor fuel; it brings out the greatest power and greatest mileage your motor can give.

This new golden-colored Super Shell is the West's own improvement over the famous Super Shell the East paid more than 8 million extra dollars for! Now this new Super Shell—at the price of regular gasoline—is an overwhelming success everywhere.

Try it—and you'll be telling all your friends, "Change to Super Shell!"

lengths of stations must be considered internationally, the speaker explained, since United States had first entered the field of radio and it was now necessary to jointly consider the problems to both countries.

The United States advocated the establishing of stations and their power on the basis of population, but the Canadian attitude was that it should be based in proportion to area. For this reason, he added, radio was still in somewhat of a chaotic condition.

NATIONAL CONSIDERATION

Referring back to the investigations of the Aird commission, he dealt with some of the findings of that body, among which had been a desire to curtail advertising. It had been generally admitted that the problems must be considered from a national standpoint.

Another difficulty in Canada had been whether the power to deal with radio control should rest with provincial or federal authorities, he stated, pointing out the fallacy of provincial control.

In regard to the fee for operating a radio, Mr. Charlesworth stated that the Canadian charge was the lowest in any country where radio was nationally controlled.

The commission's work was somewhat restricted financially, he asserted, since it was required to spend within the limits of the revenue from license fees.

AN ECONOMIC DEPARTMENT

In respect of certain criticisms of the expense of the radio commission, the economically operated of any department in Canada: Upwards of 300 muicians and educational speakers were employed by the commission, and twelve national broadcasts a week were being provided.

He felt that the commission had set a higher ethical tone which the stations would gradually live up to. Under the board's policy, it was not intended to drive the smaller stations out of business, he said, as he felt they rendered an indispensable service to the community.

HAS SET HIGH STANDARD

He was satisfied that if the commission was to cease operating immediately, it could feel that it had at least abolished the inferiority complex possessed by Canadians in regard to Dominion broadcasts, and had set a standard for broadcasts which was as good, if not better, than that maintained by United States stations.

Capt. R. B. Westmacott moved the vote of thanks.

SUMMER BRINGS SEASONAL DISCOMFORTS

We wish we might ignore prickly heat and mosquito bites and poison ivy, but they arrive with hot weather, and it behooves us to know simple treatments for them.

Prickly heat indicates but one thing—the child is being kept too warm. Sometimes we cannot escape heat, but we can avoid too many clothes, even for the young baby, and thus prevent copious perspiration which so irritates a delicate skin. When the prickly skin has appeared, sponge the baby off with cool soda water (one teaspoonful to a half pint of water), letting this solution dry on the skin. Or use some common starch in the water, so that it is milky and soft, and let this dry on the skin, leaving a film of powder. Both methods will soothe the skin and prevent baby's scratching the prickly, red areas. Removing all clothing except the indispensable diaper should end any recurrence of the patches. Prickly heat usually appears around the baby's neck, under arms and knees and on the back. It should not be mistaken for eczema.

MOSQUITO BITES

Mosquito bites should be avoided by keeping children out of weed patches or long grass or sitting bare-legged and bare-armed on the grass in the late evening. A smudgy, smoky fire, or joss sticks can sometimes be utilized to keep the pest at a distance, but when mosquitoes become thick, the human family had better take to a screened porch. Anointing the welts with household ammonia takes out the sting, and a subsequent application of some thick salve containing menthol will help to keep them from further itching.

POISON IVY

Poison ivy is a glossy, three-leaved, climbing shrub that grows in moist, damp, swamp places. Children should be shown what it looks like and told to keep away from it.

Poison oak, a shrub of the same family, and poison ivy are rather harmless when first encountered. Washing the skin well with soap and water will do away with any poisonous effect if it is done in time. Just as a matter of precaution it is well to put the children in the tub and give them a good scrubbing with soap and water immediately upon their return from expeditions in the woods.

Former Woman
Minister In U.S.

New York, July 11.—Women not only should hold opinions, but determine to make their opinions prevail, is the belief of Miss Margaret Bondfield, former Minister of Labor in the British Cabinet.

Arriving here en route to Chicago to attend the international conference of the National Council of Women, Miss Bondfield said she thought a great deal had been done with the women's vote. The question uppermost in her mind, she said, was whether much more could not have been done if more women had taken their citizenship seriously.

Smart Women
Take To Pipes

New York, July 11.—Pipe smoking among smart women is increasing in New York. I have this from no less an authority than Alice Hughes, who writes about the Manhattan shops and the transient vagrants.

For some time rumors have spread that women were shopping for pipes as never before—but one assumed they were buying for the boy friend or the husband. Dunhill's, however, reports that the pipes involved were not male pipes, but lady-like affairs and that open purchase, along with mild tobacco buying, is almost commonplace. A spy from one of the big department stores, checking the British trade, found women pipe smokers on the up in London. And the store immediately laid in a supply of small and dainty pipe-sets.

But the day I ketch my frau at my favorite calabash or meerschaum—whoopee!

"MAPLE LAWN" CAMP

Saturday was visitors' day at the C.G.I.T. camp at "Maple Lawn," Sooke, and one of the visitors was so delighted by the camp that he recorded his impressions in an article appearing in these columns yesterday. Unfortunately, he suggested that parents and friends should visit the camp, but those in charge point out that such visits, other than on the scheduled "visitors' day" would result in an upsetting of the carefully-planned programme, and the hope is expressed that friends will refrain from doing so.

SAVED CAKE
FIFTY YEARSBridal Cake Again Cut on Golden Wedding Anniversary

Many brides live to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary, but few preserve their original wedding cake for consumption fifty years after the happy event! But Mrs. Gardener of Epsom, Surrey, England, a white-haired woman of seventy-three, recently cut the same cake which she cut as a bride fifty years ago. Her husband died four years ago.

The cake had been preserved in a box in which was a slightly faded document signed by the bride and bridegroom and by the mother and father of Mr. Gardener.

"All those who signed that document except myself are dead," Mrs. Gardener said. "I can recall the wedding perfectly, but I cannot remember signing this document."

"It was a mutual idea that we should preserve the cake, and we often talked about it through our long years of very happily married life."

There were stalls of fruit, vegetables and needlework in charge of Mrs. C. B. Schrieber and Mrs. Gregory-Smith, and Mrs. W. Robertson, Mrs. N. Watson, Miss Cogswell and several young waitresses, were in charge of the tea. The ice cream stall was under the management of Rupert Soule and Bill Osborne. Capt. Watson and Rev. H. M. Bolton were in charge of the gate receipts. Transportation was furnished to and from the grounds by various members of the auxiliary, who loaned their cars for the occasion.

GARDEN PARTY
AT SASEENOS

The garden of "Lynat," the home of Capt. and Mrs. N. B. Watson, Saseenos, was the scene of a jolly garden fete held on Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Saseenos branch of the Women's Auxiliary of Holy Trinity church. The affair proved a great success, both financially and socially. Interesting items were arranged for the visitors and clock golf, in charge of Miss Rosalind Gilling and Pat Schrieber, under the supervision of the Misses Susan and Zara Pike, and a coconut shy, were all enjoyed. Madame "Q," clairvoyant, proved an added attraction.

Are Married For
Sixty-nine Years

Canadian Press
Montreal, July 11.—Mr. and Mrs. John G. Kennedy, married in Edinburgh on June 30, 1864, celebrated the sixty-ninth anniversary of their wedding in this city with five of their original family of eight present to join in honoring the occasion. In August and October, respectively, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy will complete their eighty-ninth year.

Mrs. Kennedy, whose maiden name was Elizabeth Purves, comes of a Berwickshire farming family. Fresh and alert in spite of her years, her only infirmity is a slight deafness. She still runs her home on her schedule of the past sixty-nine years. Mr. Kennedy comes of farming stock also, his family being well-known in the Dumfriesshire parishes of Dryfehead, Wamphray and Kirkmahoe. A Kennedy farm in the latter parish stands on the opposite bank of the Nith from Ellerslie, once the home of the poet Burns.

Esquimalt Garden Party.—A garden party will be held to-morrow afternoon under the auspices of the Esquimalt W.I. at the residence of Mrs. W. H. Booth, 923 Esquimalt Road. Afternoon tea will be served on the lawn, and many attractions have been planned. The proceedings will open at 2.30 p.m.

Business Women In Annual ConventionCanadian Federation Meets in Hamilton With Many Delegates

Canadian Press
Hamilton, Ont., July 11.—Miss A. Josephine Dauphinee of Vancouver, president of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, attending a convention of that organization in Hamilton, to-day addressed a luncheon meeting with the Rivants Club.

Many delegates

The federation membership is now more than 1,700 and includes clubs in all provinces except the Maritimes.

SPECIAL SPEAKERS

The speakers will include Miss Agnes Macphail, M.J.; Miss Dorothy Heneker, international executive secretary; probably Col. George Drew, Ontario security commissioner and authority on disarmament; and others. Miss Heneker's address will be particularly interesting, dealing with the growth of the movement on the continent. Such prominent women as Senator Plaminkova, representing Czechoslovakia, Madame Lathier of Paris, Mme. Dr. de Munter-Ladelle of Brussels and Dr. Maria Castellani of Rome, are actively interested in the organization, whose head is Miss Lena Madelin Phillips of New York City. Miss Heneker's address will present an international viewpoint that will be beneficial to Canadian business and professional women in these days.

The convention agenda deals with many subjects of close interest to business women. Last year one of the most important pieces of business put through by the convention was a resolution asking that at least a matriculation standing be required from all graduates of business courses in schools. This resolution was acknowledged with appreciation by the secretary of the Business Educators' Association, which organization has been attempting to make this a standard regulation for some years.

FOR INSURANCE

Various individual clubs in the Canadian Federation have agreed for or accomplished, among excellent pieces of work which will be beneficial to women in public life in all parts of Canada. The Canadian Federation has also sponsored several important resolutions during the year. One resolution forwarded to Ottawa asked that the unemployed insurance legislation brought forward by the government would apply equally to women as well as men.

Plans include a civic reception, a drive to Guelph, where the delegates will be the guests of the Guelph Business and Professional Women's Club at luncheon after a drive around the Ontario Agricultural College and the Ontario farm; a tea at the guest of the Mountain Sanatorium Board of Directors; luncheon at the Tamahua Club; a garden party and musical at "Tarrymore," on the Dundas highway, as guests of Mrs. John I. Platt; a banquet at the Royal Connaught Hotel and a full day's trip through the Niagara fruit belt, with luncheon at St. Catharines and a supper party as guests of the Niagara Falls Club.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S OLD CLOTHES

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Where's the rag bag?" asked Uncle Wiggily of his wife as he hopped down the stairs of his hollow stump bungalow one day with a bundle in his paw. "Where's the rag bag, my dear?"

"What do you want the rag bag for?" asked the lady rabbit. "Are you going to take it out adventuring with you?"

"No," answered Mr. Longears. "I want to put these old clothes of mine in the rag bag. That's all there fit for, the rag bag. They are all ragged and torn."

"Let me see that suit of clothes!" said Mrs. Longears, firm-like and determined. "Perhaps I can mend the holes and you can still wear it."

"This suit is too old," said the bunny gentleman. "I'm going to throw it away. Where's the rag bag?"

"But his wife wouldn't tell him nor would Nurse Jane and at last Mrs. Longears took the old clothes away from her husband, looked at them and said:

"Well, now that you have fooled me, dressed in Uncle Wiggily's old clothes, what are you going to do next?" asked Nurse Jane.

"I am going to fool Wiggily!" said his wife, laughing.

"Dressed like a gentleman rabbit, Mrs. Longears hopped out in the woods where she would soon see her husband. "I only hope, though," said Mrs. Longears to herself, "that the Fox or the Bob Cat doesn't see me. They'd take me for Wiggily and chase me."

Then all of a sudden, Mrs. Longears, in her husband's old clothes, heard a noise in the bushes.

"Oh, maybe this one of the Bad Chaps now!" she thought and began to hop very fast. Then a voice called after her:

"Wait! Wait! Wait for me, Uncle Wiggily!"

"Oh, I can't be sure whether that is the Fox or the Bob Cat, but one of the Bad Chaps I'm sure!" gasped the lady rabbit. She tried to run, but she had never before worn her husband's clothes so she tripped and fell down. Then she felt some one lifting her up and she was sure it was the Fox, but it was only Mr. Twistytail, the pig.

"And when he saw Mrs. Longears instead of Uncle Wiggily, the fat pig gentleman was much surprised. And so was Uncle Wiggily, when he came along a little later. But he was so pleased because his wife had made his old clothes look like new, that he gave her a kiss."

"Then Mr. and Mrs. Longears, who looked like a very nice couple, were with Mr. Twistytail and everything was O.K. And if the noodle doesn't jump out of the soup and play tag with the football, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's burdock pants."

Working Wives

Jonesy ordered the office phone operator to get through to Tracy. She tried, while Nan waited on one side of her, Jonesy on the other.

"But there is some one there," she kept repeating. "A News reporter just called us from there. He got the connection through himself. Just ring them!"

But though long distance finally understood, and rang and rang, the line continued dead. Jonesy at last had to give up. He mopped his brow. "He was a good kid, too."

Then, chewing his teeth vigorously, he went to the composing room. Two extras must be prepared, ready to shoot quickly to the street when word should come, one "Dam Goes Out, Sweeping Fifty Heroes to Death," the other, in enormous black type, "Dam Saved!"

"Gee, I'll bet Harry is biting his nails at Hartford," said Barnes's voice behind Nan. "This is sure a break for the kid—if he gets back. But I suppose you're not sorry Harry is safe at Hartford."

Nan was glad. But she wished desperately that Jocko were safe, too. Since he had written to her, "Do you mind if I think of you?" she felt responsible for him, somehow.

The minutes were in the jungle of phones, the shouts of busy, excited men. Jocko's extra was out, with his story all over the front page, his picture in the middle. That would please him—if he got back.

Harry called again. He was joining the emergency crew that was being rushed to the aid of the little group of volunteers on the dam.

"They say it holds till they get there," he said. "Harry told Jonesy over the phone, 'If it doesn't, I'll send you a post card from the gulf.'"

"Well, don't get your feet wet," Jonesy, when he found himself pleased with an utterance, generally used it over and over.

"I won't get them any wetter than I can," he said.

the rest of me," Harry promised. He wanted to ask if Nan were handy, so that he might speak to her. But already the crew was rolling past the door of the little shop from which he was phoning, and he was forced to run without the word he would have liked with her.

Now the News proceeded to go wild. Two of its men were hurrying their lives to get the big story. True, reporters from other papers were joining the emergency crew. If one went, there was no way of stopping the others. But nothing could dim the glory of Jocko's feat.

An air of optimism settled over the office. Barnes put it into words. "Now that Harry's on his way, the dam won't go out. That baby's too lucky."

Nan felt the same way. Newspaper men, good newspaper men, had a certain immunity. Even Providence should recognize that. But just the same she paced the floor waiting again for a call from Tracy.

CHAPTER VII

When Harry finally did call from Tracy, it seemed an anticlimax.

"Hello boys and girls, the dam will not go out today. Tell Jonesy we feel for him, but the angry waters are now in bounds, and the Johnstown flood cannot be repeated for the morning editions."

That was Harry. Jonesy gave orders to release the extra "Dam Saved," with a story hastily added under the signature of the star reporter.

Nan pulled herself together. This was the news they all had expected, she realized. After Harry got on the job, the dam couldn't go out. She wondered about Jocko and wished he would call. But all the communications came from Harry, who took charge now and quickly had all the possible threads in his hand, got the telephonic exchange working and kept feeding new angles for new editions.

"How long will they stay there?" Nan asked Barnes.

Barnes cast a shrewd eye upon her. "Jocko is smart, he'll come pronto and let Harry mop up. If Harry beats him here, or comes with him, bingo goes Weltman's little hour of glory."

Nan understood and knew that he was right. Jocko had done a brave, and splendid thing, he had sent in a marvelous story. But it was so natural for the editors to look for Harry that they were apt to transfer to him the adulation Jocko had earned.

And Harry would do nothing to stop this. Nan realized that. Harry's code contained no provision for stepping aside to allow some one else to occupy the spotlight and for Jocko he had no love anyway. Adroitly he would push the cub into the background and, so short is public memory, in time he would have all the credit for the Tracy affair.

Nan came to swift decision. She would see that Jocko got the credit he had deserved. She asked the operator to put her through to Tracy and to get Weltman on the phone.

It was Harry, however, who answered. His voice sounded very happy when he recognized her.

"Why, Nancy girl, how's everything? How does my stuff look in the paper?" "It looks great, Harry. You're doing a splendid job. Having a nice time?"

"There isn't much doing just now. Though maybe I'd come back to the office."

"That's what I called about. Jonesy wants Weltman to come in, and you to stay and clean things up there."

"Oh, he does, does he? What's the idea?" "I don't know. It's just orders."

"Well, let me speak to Jonesy." "He's gone home," Nan was feeling more and more guilty. It was as if she were betraying him in order to make way for the triumphal return of another. But surely she owed Jocko that much. She would make it up to Harry later.

"Well, all right. But I hope he doesn't keep me in this hole very long. The office boy could cover it now."

"I know just how Judy felt," Nan thought, as she turned away from the phone. And how, she wondered, would feel if he ever learned what she had done.

Now she remembered that she had had no lunch, so she dined extravagantly with June Rathbone and went to a movie. But she was too excited to sit through it, and making an excuse to June, went home and to bed. Harry would be furious with her, if he found out. So would Jonesy.

But she feared Jonesy's wrath less than Harry's. For she loved Harry, or did she love him? These considerations overshadowed her satisfaction in the fact that she had made some small return to Jocko for messing into his life.

The next day was Jocko's. The staff gathered about him when he came into the editorial room, with much hand shaking and back slapping. The girls exclaimed over his chapped, scarred hands, the men congratulated him without envy. It was a great moment in the life of a cub.

Jonesy made his entrance, and came to the group that surrounded Jocko. "You got back, did you?" he growled. "Say, listen, do I pay you to carry cement?" Then he chuckled, hit Jocko a resounding whack on the shoulder, and ordered him into the private office.

When he came out, Jocko crossed straight to Nan's desk.

"What do you know, he gave me a bonus and a raise!" he exclaimed, genuinely surprised. "I never expected anything like that."

"Didn't you know that you pulled off the biggest scoop in newspaper history, in these parts at least?" Nan said, smiling up at him.

"Maybe I was a little lucky. Just the same, I'm not turning down anything." "Much of a raise?"

"They aren't going to go bankrupt paying it, but see, it helps."

"That's great. I'm awfully glad. I think you were splendid, Jocko. Did you know I was crying yesterday when I was taking your story over the phone?"

"Why, no! Gosh!" He was looking at her seriously. There was no coquetry in the look she gave him in return, but friendship, affection, admiration. "But it all came out right, and maybe, I wasn't glad!"

Nan broke the tension a little nervously.

"You haven't forgotten our date?" Jocko said.

"No indeed."

"But no tearooms today. Not with this order for a bonus burning a hole in my pocket."

"Aren't you awfully set up?" Nan asked him after they had ordered the lavish lunch which Jocko deemed necessary to the occasion.

"Why should I be?"

SPAIN FAILS U.S. TOURISTS

Ohio Senator Informed Party Been in Mallorca Prison Since June 4

Washington, July 11.—Five United States tourists have been held without bail since June 4 in a Spanish prison despite protests of state department officials. Senator Bulkley, Democrat, Ohio, yesterday said appeals for help had been directed to him by friends of the jailed tourists.

Others are Rutherford Fullerton, fifty-three, retired Columbus, Ohio, business man; Rodrick P. Mead, artist of New York City, and Edmund W. Blodgett of Stanford, Conn., also an artist.

According to information given the Ohio senator, the imprisonment followed a clash between one of the tourists and an officer of the Guardia Civil, the Spanish military police. Senator Bulkley's information is one of the men was struck by the officer and his glasses broken. Mrs. Lockwood, knowing loss of his eyes glasses left the man seriously injured vision, went to his aid and was struck with the flat of an officer's sword.

Fullerton assumed the role of peace maker, but trouble ensued in which an officer was cut on the forehead and another drew and fired his pistol. All five were bundled off to prison.

Modern Face Creams Safe, But Be Careful of Skin Bleaches

Preparations Containing Mercury Often Causes Ill Effects; Rubbing Is Great Benefit to Circulation

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

In preparing the skin for cosmetic purposes women frequently use creams of various types. The formula for cold cream has been known for hundreds of years. Most cold creams are merely mixtures of various fats and water. The quality of any cold cream depends on the thoroughness with which the ingredients are mixed, and also on their quality.

There was a time when creams offered to women as cosmetics contained heavy doses of mercury, but to-day such substances are seldom, if ever, found in creams sold in ordinary commerce. In some instances creams are sold as skin bleaches. These occasionally contain harmful substances, including mercury, and ill effects have been reported following their use.

Dr. Alice Carleton of Oxford points out that some manufacturers are taking advantage of the current interest in ultraviolet rays and in irradiations generally in the advertising of creams which have no special virtues. There is not the slightest reason for believing in the special virtues of these preparations. If they contain enough radium to have any effect, they are dangerous. If they are merely subjected to irradiation, the proof is not yet available that this accomplishes any good.

It has been argued that irradiated creams and greases have special power in destroying germs and in hastening the healing of wounds, but even this study is in an early experimental stage, and the evidence is not yet sufficient to be convincing.

Vanishing creams are made up, for the most part, without much fat. They are chiefly potassium or sodium stearate and glycerine, together with rose-water and perfume. Sometimes the fat is replaced by almond oil, wax or gelatin. The chief value of many creams of this type is the fact that they are rubbed in, which aids circulation of the blood in the skin, and serves as a mild form of massage.

Purveyors of cosmetics offer all sorts of creams with special names supposed to have specific purposes. They are known as motor creams, outdoor creams, thinning creams and thickening creams. Actually these creams possess little if any special virtues. It is inadvisable to put strong medicaments on any kind of skin without having definite knowledge of the nature of the medication used and its effects on the skin.

OTTAWA PACT WITH RUSSIA

New Trade Treaty Now in Effect Will Give Canada Benefit of Lower Duties

Ottawa, July 11.—The new trade treaty between Austria and Canada went into effect yesterday. It was completed last week. Before the Great War, the trade between the two countries was considerable and it is expected the new pact will bring back a substantial exchange of goods.

Prior to the war, Canada participated in the "most favored nation" clauses of the imperial Austrian treaty which then existed. The outbreak of war automatically abrogated that treaty and nothing has been done until now to replace the old trade arrangements. Austria has in force a general tariff on all items of trade, and on a limited number of commodities has conventional lower duties, some of which have been granted without a special agreement. These conventional or lower duties arise out of treaties with other countries to which Austria has made some concessions. By the agreement, according to Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, Canada gets the benefit of all these lower duties.

State To Close Feeder Streams

Canadian Press
Boston, Mass., July 11.—Anglers who cast their lines over the five Massachusetts streams where public fishing grounds have been established will no longer be able to work their way up the feeder brooks in search of trout.

Many of them are to be closed to further fishing when the trout season closes on July 31. Director Raymond J. Kenney of the Division of Fisheries and Game announced this morning he had decided upon in accordance with a plan to improve and increase the supply of trout in the public fishing waters.

Along streams fed by these brooks the state has leased 100 miles of land and set it apart for public use. The land lies along the shores of the Westfield, Farmington, Millers, Squannacook and Copcut Rivers.

NEW BRITISH PICTURE COMING TO DOMINION

The management of the Dominion Theatre announces that the Gaumont-British version of "The Good Companions," novel by J. B. Priestley, recently screened before King George and Queen Mary on the occasion of their first public cinema attendance, has been obtained and will be shown in Victoria commencing Saturday at the Dominion Theatre.

The attendance of the King and Queen at the London premiere of "The Good Companions" is regarded as recognition of the remarkable advancement being made in the production of British films. "The Good Companions" is said to be the finest picture ever produced in a British studio.

CAPITOL THEATRE

One hundred and fifty monkeys perched themselves high among the rafters of the largest stage at Fox Studio, determined to make the best of freedom as long as their stomachs held out. It all happened during the filming of "Zoo in Budapest." Jesse L. Lasky's first production for Fox Film. In the picture, an elephant runs amuck and upsets a number of cages in the animal house, including a huge one which houses the monkeys. The elephant performed as scheduled, but the technicians didn't count on the bottom of the monkey cage coming loose.

"Zoo in Budapest," with Loretta Young and Gene Raymond in the featured roles, is a current success at the Capitol Theatre.

EMPIRE THEATRE

Harold Noise, Director of the motion picture "Explorers of the World," now showing at the Empire Theatre, has led a life of adventure on land and sea. He once sailed away, presumably on a summer cruise to the Arctic, and did not return to civilization for six years. Part of this time he spent exploring the islands of the Arctic Ocean for the Canadian Government, then he turned himself into an ethnologist and lived for three years with the famous blond Eskimos on Southeastern Victoria land, living in the snow houses in the winter and traveling over the tundra with them in the summer. In the picture he tells the story of his journey by dog-sled once through the foaming icebergs of the river to study the ethnology of the wild Tariano Indians of the Amazon in Northwestern Brazil.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Lapey with their three children are staying at their summer home at Leigh Point, Langford Lake.

COLUMBIA THEATRE
Hollywood is never supposed to have snow. But on one particularly blustery day for Southern California, players on the First National lot claimed that they actually saw snow.

But the reputation of the California sunshine was safe. It was artificial snow sprinkled by prop men for a scene in "Mind Reader." Warren Williams' latest picture, which is now showing at the Columbia Theatre. The scene in the picture depicts New York City in winter time.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE
Irene Dunne steps right into the ranks of the leading screen fashion plates by stepping out in some very spiffy clothes for "No Other Woman," her current RKO-Radio picture in which she is featured with Charles Bickford at the Playhouse Theatre.

For the first time in her career Irene Dunne is dressed as the likes to dress. She addresses the dramatic scope which was given in such pictures as "Cimarron" and "Back Street," but she is a very feminine and very beautiful lady—that Dunne girl—and naturally she is delighted that "No Other Woman" gives her a chance to don a few ultra-stylish tailored suits to evening gowns.

CLARK GABLE TO FLY SOUTH

Motion Picture Star Plans To Leave Harrison Hot Springs On Saturday

Harrison Hot Springs, July 11.—Clark Gable, motion picture star, and Mrs. Gable, are guests at the hotel here until Saturday, when they will leave by seaplane for Los Angeles.

George Hearst, son of the United States newspaper publisher, and his bride are spending a week at the hotel on their honeymoon.

Clark Gable and his wife were reported to have been in Los Angeles by the H. F. Alexander next week from Victoria.

The above dispatch would indicate they have changed their plans.

ESSEX TERRAPLANE MAKES RECORD RUN

To Nanaimo and return on 5.5 gallons of gasoline. Such was the official performance of a new Essex Terraplane sedan, checked in a recent efficiency test put on by Jameson's Motor Limited, local dealers.

The purpose of the test was to establish proof of the economy and efficiency of this popular car, a model was taken off the floor of the showroom, in no way specially prepared for the journey.

R. R. Webb, secretary of the local branch of the Automobile Club of British Columbia, supervised the running of the gas tank, and the car left the premises of Jameson's Motor Limited at 10:45 Friday morning.

George Motion, the driver, was accompanied by a newspaper representative. The round trip of 155.7 miles was accomplished on 5.5 gallons of Richfield High-Octane gasoline, an average of 28.3 miles to the gallon.

FAIR TIME MADE
Adopting a speed of approximately twenty-seven miles per hour throughout, good time was made. The adequate power of the car was amply proved by the fact that the clutch was not disengaged at any time during the journey up or down, conventional gear being used exclusively. There was no coasting down any of the hills, and at no time was it necessary to change down to second.

The condition of the road enabled the observer to judge the smooth riding feature of the Terraplane. Balance and shock absorption were well demonstrated.

The many Victorians who have admired the sweeping lines and fine fittings of the Essex Terraplane sedan receive proof in this efficiency test of the remarkable clutch which renders smoother conditions when the driver is on Vancouver Island.

Former Nanaimo Woman Dies Here

Dykes of Nanaimo; also one brother and a sister in Australia. She was a member of Crescent Lodge, Eastern Star, and Marion Rebekah Lodge, Nanaimo, and a member of the White Shrine of Victoria.

The remains are resting at the Sands Mortuary Limited and will be forwarded to Nanaimo tomorrow morning, where services will be conducted on Thursday at 2:30 o'clock from D. J. Jenkins, Limited. NEWS IN BRIEF

For failing to have the current year's license plates on his car, Amer Singh, a Hindu, was fined $10 in the City Police Court this morning.

Contract for repairing the gutters on the roof of the city hall was let by the City Council yesterday afternoon to the lowest tenderer, Pacific Sheet Metal Works, at a figure of $1,162.

A standing reward of $25 will be offered by the City Council for information leading to conviction of persons doing malicious damage to city property. It was decided by the City Council yesterday following reports by the land commissioner on two cases of damage to city-owned houses.

The B.C. Government will receive $18,592 as a result of reinstatement of three timber licenses. In a similar manner, though in a smaller way, many other timber licenses are being reinstated in a movement which is believed due to stiffening in lumber markets both here and abroad.

E. C. Day, who pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to stop his car behind a standing street car, was fined $20 in the City Police Court this morning.

Mr. Day's car struck a passenger alighting from the car at the corner of Government and Elliott Streets, causing slight injuries.

At the request of Alderman Andrew McGavin, the City Council yesterday afternoon to furnish the council with data on the "load" carried by Point Elliot Bridge. The point arose when the council gave permission to the Victoria Gas Company to run a two-inch gas main across the bridge temporarily.

A communication from the Victoria Ratepayers' Association asking that administration of the city relief department be placed directly under the City Council instead of by the relief committee was received and filed by the City Council yesterday afternoon.

It was pointed out that the council always deals with matters of policy in this connection and that the committee handles the routine detail.

Thirteen Chinese were arrested by Sergeant Arthur Bishop and a squad of police who raided 1711 Government Street yesterday evening. Wong Sang, was charged with being the keeper of a common gaming house and the others were charged as found in the place.

On appearance before Magistrate Richard R. Taylor, Gordon Boyd, City Clerk, said the City Police Court this morning they were remanded one week.

A request of the Clover Point Anglers' Association for a loan of $300 to complete its new boat house was referred by the City Council yesterday afternoon to the parks committee and city solicitor with power to act.

The solicitor was asked to determine the question of legality. The loan was sought in view of the fact that the association had not been able to secure the full amount of necessary funds from its members.

A new high figure for sale of reserved property in the city was set yesterday by the City Council when it sanctioned the sale of a parcel on the north side of Johnson Street, between Blanshard and Douglas Streets, for $5,000.

The sale was made to a group of four men, including Frederick Boyd, Richard R. Taylor, Gordon Boyd, and James Danglefield, who proposed building an extension to their service station. Another sale was made to Roy Watson, a lot on Douglas Street, for $1,000, to be used for service station purposes.

TWO SUITS ON ONE DISPUTE

Los Angeles, July 11.—Dr. Eugene C. Nelson, negro physician who married Helen Lee Worthing, Polaris actress, faces a $10,000 alienation of affections suit brought by the husband of another white woman.

But close on the heels of the damage suit started by Leo F. Desmond, long Island, N.Y., oil machinery salesman, Mrs. Desmond filed action for dissolution of her marital ties.

"I knew he was of negro blood," Mrs. Desmond told the court, "but it made no difference. I loved him so much I was afraid of losing him. I never loved any husband. We separated two weeks after we were married."

The wife of the machinery salesman is secretary to Dr. Nelson. She alleges in her suit for annulment that Desmond perpetrated a fraud on her in marrying her, saying he was a citizen of the United States. Later, she says, she discovered her husband was a British subject.

GALLIHER IS LAUDED

Brothers on Bench Pay Tribute to Retiring Court of Appeal Justice

W. E. Burns, K.C., and W. G. McQuarrie, K.C., Likely To Fill Vacant B.C. Judgeship

Official announcement from Ottawa of the retirement of Mr. Justice W. A. Galligher from the B.C. Court of Appeal because of ill-health, was referred to at the opening of court today by Chief Justice Macdonald and the other justices.

The subject of the justice's retirement after a quarter of a century on the highest court bench in B.C. was brought up by H. A. Beckwith, counsel in the case at bar, who expressed the regret of the bar of the province. Mr. Beckwith's statement was concurred in by C. H. O'Halloran, opposing counsel in the case at bar, who paid a tribute to the qualities of the retiring justice.

"He was a just and shining light on this bench," said the Chief Justice in the course of his remarks, expressing feelingly the regret at the closing of the judicial career of his brother justice.

Mr. Justice Archer Martin, who with the chief justice had sat on the same bench with Mr. Justice Galligher since the first day this court was established twenty-four years ago, voiced a similar tribute.

Mr. Justice McPhillips spoke of the long career of the retiring justice, emphasizing outstanding features in his remarkable career in the service of King and country since the 1884 days when he joined the "voyagers" and went up the Nile for the relief of General Gordon. Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald joined in the tributes.

TWO VACANCIES TO BE FILLED

Either W. E. Burns, K.C., of Vancouver, or W. G. McQuarrie, K.C., ex-M.P. of the federal parliament, will be appointed to the Court of Appeal to fill the Galligher vacancy. It was intimated today in court circles, with the one who does not go to the other, the being appointed to fill the vacancy on the Supreme Court Bench caused by the retirement last spring of Mr. Justice Begg.

Premier Bennett in a letter received by the Victoria Bar Association in reply to its recent protests against the appointment of Mr. McQuarrie to the Supreme Bench, has sufficient qualifications, experience and ability to fill the post and intimates that it is the intention to carry through with the appointment.

Mr. Burns, who was one of the most distinguished Vancouver counsel, is the choice of Premier Bennett and Senator A. R. MacRae, and his selection was concurred in by Hon. H. H. Stevens, during his recent visit to the Coast.

LITTLE RAIN FOR PRAIRIE CROPS

More Damage to Growing Grain Threatened By Hot Sun

Winnipeg, July 11.—Light scattered overnight sprinklings of rain provided inadequate moisture for crops of the prairie and south-western wheat today threatened additional damage.

The weather map indicated moderate warm temperatures right across the plains. The mercury soared yesterday, and Regina, another wheat centre, while it was cool in Alberta, Promise of rain was conspicuous by its absence in forecasts.

Winnipeg and Brandon with 22 were the warmest cities. Regina alone was followed with readings of 90. Saskatchewan was comfortable at 74, the same as Calgary, and Edmonton had a cool 62.

Outlook, 62, reported 1.12 inches of rain, but no other point registered more than half an inch.

HEAT AND INSECTS

A much better price is reported this year for new potatoes. These were selling at 12 1/2 cents a bushel last week, but a brisk demand has raised the price to 17 1/2 cents to-day.

GRAIN STORAGE RATE ARGUED

Winnipeg, July 11.—Re-establishment of the old storage rate of one-thirtieth of one cent per bushel per day on wheat stored in elevators was asked by the private grain trade at a tariff session of the Board of Grain Commissioners today.

At the first session of Parliament the rate was reduced to one-fiftieth of one cent. The trade claimed that since the emergency which necessitated revision no longer existed, the rate should be raised to the old level.

The board of the old rate was not of opinion, representatives of the wheat pools were of the opinion the present was not an opportune time to make the change and asked the board to defer any action for the time being.

No enlargement is necessary of the idea engendered in this invitation to these boys, and it will be greatly appreciated by the Canadian Legion if all boys between the ages of twelve and seventeen, who would wish to fall in with the veterans on that evening, will notify C. Bullish Crop News And Heavy Exports Send Wheat Soaring

Winnipeg, July 11.—Bullish crop news and export business totaling about $500,000 bushels were responsible for unusually heavy advances in wheat future prices on the grain exchange to-day and values closed 4 1/4 to 4 1/2 higher.

July closed at 88, October 90 1/2, December 92 1/2 and May 94 1/2.

"Bulls" held away throughout the entire session, successfully staving off periodical profit-taking rallies. Bullish enthusiasm ran high on crop reports and weather advice. Late in the session gains of four cents had been marked up. And there was no sign of the bull forces retiring, as traders, taxed to their utmost, filled the continual stream of buying orders. Trading for southern account was noticeable.

Prices at Liverpool showed gains of 1 1/2 to 2d.

Business volume was considerably greater than for the past few days but some traders, despite the heavy support, were taking a cautious attitude, and awaiting the Canadian Government crop report, to be issued later to-day.

Cash grain trading was dull. Corn prices, reflecting the strong tone of wheat futures, scored advances. Rye was particularly strong, at one time showing gains of eight cents.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

Wife Criticized for Wearing Pants in Family Finds Self Justified in Crisis—Straight Talk to Faithless Wife Who Really Loves Her Husband

DEAR MISS DIX—Soon after I was married I found out that I had virtually and unintentionally committed bigamy. That is, that I had married my husband's father as well as himself, for father-in-law, who had always dominated my husband to such an extent that he had never even done his own thinking, considered that he had a right to manage me and my affairs and my children as well. Having a mind of my own and a college education, much of which I had provided for myself, I had some ideas of my own, consequently my husband and his family have constantly criticized me and made things generally unpleasant. There should be a law against in-laws meddling in the affairs of young married folk for at least three years after marriage. In that time husbands and wives would have a chance to adjust themselves to each other in a way that would make them, in a measure, in-law proof. I would like to have been one of those clinging vines, but I wanted to cling to my husband and not to his family and his father.

The father always accused me of wearing the pants, but now that he has grown old and feeble and unable to plan things, and my husband, never having thought for himself, being unable to do so in this crisis, there would be no pants to wear except for me.

Answer: Right you are, Mrs. J. P. R., but I wouldn't make a three-year moratorium on interfering in-laws. I would make it a lifetime interdiction. For I believe that every bride and groom have a constitutional right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness in their own way, and that their parents on both sides should keep hands off and let them fight it out by themselves.

Probably there is no other thing in the world that calls for such superhuman self-control as it does for fathers and mothers to keep their fingers out of their children's pies, because all parents believe that they know what is best for their children better than the youngsters know themselves. They forget that their children are not rubber stamps of themselves and that they have their individual inclinations and tastes that are entirely different from pa's and ma's, and that what might suit papa and mamma doesn't suit them at all.

Also, that they have their individual lives to live and father and mother cannot live them for them. Father and mother may be right for themselves and totally wrong for their children.

Of all the crimes that parents ever commit against their children, the greatest is that of trying to keep them in perpetual leading-strings, refusing to let them grow up, making them babies who will always have to be held by the hand and will never be strong enough to stand alone.

Many fathers and mothers do this through a love of domination, and because of vanity that makes them desire always to be looked up to, always regarded as little tin gods by their children. You will see mothers who will boast that they have always "saved" their girls from all work and worry, they have always doted on the girls' stockings and washed their silk lingerie and bought their clothes and waited on Sally and Mamie hand and foot, and Sally and Mamie have never had a care in the world.

And so when Sally and Mamie marry they are ignorant and useless, and they quarrel with their husbands because they don't know how to cook, nor how to spend money, nor how to manage a house, and they are always running back to mother with their tales of how unreasonable their husbands are, and how disappointed they are in marriage. Half of the divorces are the result of mothers not having fitted their daughters for marriage by throwing the responsibility of a house upon their shoulders from time to time, and teaching them how to make their own decisions about their own affairs.

And how often we see a man who keeps his son a little boy past middle age, who gives him an allowance, if he has money, but just spending money and not property that he teaches him to manage; who orders son about like all other boys, but never gives him any authority, who never lets him make a decision, or use his own judgment and initiative.

And then, when father dies, son is as helpless as a babe in arms. It takes courage to cut the leading strings that bind our children to us, and self-abnegation to keep from interfering in their lives, but it is nothing but simple justice to the children.

DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX—I am an unfaithful wife. I am twenty-two years old, have been married five years, have two beautiful children, and a husband who is good, kind and loves me with all his heart, and strange as it may seem, I love him better than any one on earth. But my husband is twelve years older than I am and the boy with whom I have an affair is only twenty-two. I have known this boy all my life and he is fine, too. I don't know why I have done what I have done. I have told the boy it can't go on like this and he threatens to kill himself if I break with him. I am so ashamed and repentant and I have nights that are sleepless with remorse, but when I am with this boy I forget everything but that I want him to love me and want his arms around me. Can a woman love two men at one time, or am I just a weak, spineless creature without morals?

Answer: I think you have diagnosed your case pretty accurately, and that you are a poor, weak, spineless creature without morals, but that the kind of woman can wreck herself and break the lives of men and children. She is really more dangerous than a bad woman, because she never means to do the harm she does.

Evidently this boy has a strong physical fascination for you, and your only safety is keeping away from him. Your safety lies in flight. When you are away from the mesmerism of his presence you can see your act in its true light, but when you are with him nothing else matters but the attraction that draws you to him.

You must realize, aside from the wrong you are doing, what a catastrophe you are bringing down upon your own head. For such an affair cannot long remain a secret. Probably people are beginning to talk about it already and before long your husband will discover your liaison and then your home will be broken up and your children taken away from you, and you will stand shamed and disgraced before your little world.

That is a pretty high price to pay for an affair, isn't it? Quit talking about repenting and remorse, and repent in earnest by breaking off this disgraceful affair.

Adventure of the Northland

DANGER IN SIGHT

Despite the fact that some boulders on the hill which Allen climbed were a bit shaky, he managed to get down again without mishap.

"Look! There's an iceberg," shouted Allen.

In company with Mr. Westford, and Roberts, he walked to the village. Most of the inhabitants were fisher folk of Scotch and English descent. There were likewise a few Eskimos.

The visitors found that they had grown hungry, and inquired the way to the village restaurant. There they were served with a delicious meal, plain but satisfying.

"What kind of animals do you have in Labrador?" Allen asked the restaurant keeper.

"We have wolves and foxes," he replied, "and two kinds of bears, one black and one white. We have caribou (large members of the deer family), lynx, beavers, squirrels, rabbits and lemmings. Probably you have noticed the seals which swim about the coast. Next to fishing, our greatest industry is hunting and trapping. Ships come here and bring goods in trade for furs."

"I saw a golden plover on the beach," commented Roberts. "Could you tell us what birds you have around here?"

The boy and the girl remembered the facts after they went back to the ship. Allen went to his cabin room and took forth his big scrapbook, of newspapers, clippings, and notes about the "home habits" of many animals in the Northland.

With the help of the scrapbook and other volumes, he and his sister whiled away hours of the day spent in waiting the return of Dr. Barstow and his comrades. At last they came back safe and sound. They were hardly on board before Allen asked Dr. Barstow, "Did you find any fossils?"

"Yes," the scientist replied, "we found some very good ones, but none of the kind which we are most anxious to discover."

"What kind is that?"

"I'll tell you some other time. Now
